Showdown Rail Session Slated

. . . ON $64 QUESTION

Washington (UPI)—The Labor Department Sunday arranged a showdown meeting with rail union and management negotiators for Monday to try to solve a critical snarl over ground rules for settling the job rules dispute.

After a day of telephone conferences, Assistant Secretary of Labor James J. Reynolds said he would call in attorneys for both sides, probably during the afternoon Monday, to try to find the answer to what he called "the $64 question."

That is whether agreement can be reached on union conditions for settling the 4-year-old rail work rules dispute through binding arbitration.

The railroads have agreed without reservation to submit two key issues to an arbitration board for a final decision. The unions, in a dramatic reversal of their traditional opposition to outside arbitration of contract terms, also agreed but insisted on negotiating secondary issues before arbitration begins.

Disagreement On Scope

An informed source close to the dispute said there may also be disagreement over the scope of issues to be arbitrated. The unions have indicated they want to narrow the problems a proposed 6-man board would finally decide.

Attorneys for the 5 unions met to draft their version of the arbitration agreement, including their timetable for settling all issues. A union spokesman said the draft might be finished sometime Monday.

Labor Secretary W. Willard Wirtz said the latest hassle was "obviously a critical one" and he urged both sides in a letter to the union chiefs to straighten out procedures at once.

The railroads, which insist on arbitrating the major issues first, appeared to be leaving it up to the unions to take the next step.

Big Step Forward

Wirtz's settlement plan took a big step forward Saturday when the 140-member policy committee of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen authorized union president H. E. Gilbert to enter into an arbitration agreement.

Under the Wirtz plan, the job elimination and crew makeup issues would be submitted to a 6-member panel for a final, binding decision. Each side would be represented by two members, and President Kennedy would appoint two public members.

The panel would issue a decision within 90 days, and then both sides would negotiate by Dec. 15 a solution to such secondary issues as pay scales and road and yard work jurisdiction.

Haiti Force Rushed Into Rebel Area

Port au Prince, Haiti (AP)—Haitian forces were rushed into the Interior Northeast Sunday as the government began a concentrated drive to dislodge from that mountainous terrain rebel invaders trying to topple the regime of President Francois Duvalier.

A rebel spokesman in Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic, said Gen. Leon Cantave and his rebel forces pulled out of Mont Organise Saturday after wiping out a platoon of Duvalier's special army and militia units sent to the northeast last week.

(Paul Verna, the spokesman, also said the rebels shot down one of two government mustang fighter planes that had been strafing rebel positions for two days.)

Unconfirmed reports in Port au Prince said Cantave's men had left Mont Organise for the hills. Reports also said one of the government's planes had failed to return from a reconnaissance mission over Mont Organise Saturday.

The local commercial airport continued to be a hub of activity for the second straight day as the tiny Haitian air force of 6 transports and a mustang fighter flew sorties, airlifting troops into the interior.

15 Schoolmen Seeking 'In-Between' Certificate

By NANCY RAY
Star Staff Writer

School administrators in Nebraska now have another rung in the ladder of advancement to climb. It is called a certificate of specialization in administration and supervision.

Dr. Hayes

Dr. Dale Hayes, chairman of the department of administration at the University of Nebraska, explained that the certificate falls roughly between the M. A. and Ed. D. degrees in graduate training.

University Regents dealt severely with the idea at its first appearance for approval last June, hinting it looked like a "short-cut" to provide school administrators—superintendents, high school and grade school principals—with a status that would deter many from reaching the doctoral degree level of training.

A second attempt in August brought smooth sailing for the certificate, which Dr. Hayes attributed to a fuller understanding of the need for the new program.

Off-Campus Sites

To earn the new rank, a minimum of 63 hours of graduate work is required, Dr. Hayes explained, including 3 to 6 hours of seminar of surveys conducted at off-campus sites and aimed at providing the administration with "grass roots" experience in the problems they will handle.

The program deals mainly, however, in specialization for the job the administrator will do. Special types of courses are offered to meet the different needs of the grade school principal, superintendent of schools or high school principal.

Incentive to enter the program for two years of graduate work came recently from the national and state professional organizations for school superintendents, which listed the two-year graduate study level as "minimum" for superintendents, despite the Nebraska state requirement of only 15 hours of graduate study for the post.

Professional organizations for the elementary and high school principals are also expected to follow suit in raising their requirements to the two-year program level for for professional administrators.

15 Enrolled

About 15 administrators are now enrolled in the program for a certificate of specialization, and several such certificates will be issued at the June commencement exercises in 1964.

Dr. Hayes predicted that about half a dozen new entrants into the program will be obtained yearly, but stressed that the certificate is only a "bench mark" on the path to a doctoral degree for those who are able to continue in graduate training.

ROMPING SPIRITS . . . Gary and Lary.

Siamese Twins Are Lively Pair

Livermore, Calif. (AP) — With the romping spirit that bounces in 7-year-old boys, Gary and Lary Hutchens jumped on the living room sofa.

By the time Mrs. Floyd Hutchens could tell her twin sons to get down, they were standing on their heads on the floor with their feet flopped against the wall.

"It's a chore just keeping up with them," she said, shaking her head with a smile.

The boyish liveliness of Gary and Lary is highly normal for 7-year-old lads.

Rair Pair

But they are a rare pair.

They were born July 2, 1956, as Siamese twins, linked at the spine by nerve fiber and a common spinal canal.

Seventeen days after their birth, a team of surgeons at Grossmont Hospital in La Mesa, Calif., performed a 90-minute separation operation.

Mrs. Hutchens remembers now that when the doctors told her the operation was a success she said, "I guess I'm the luckiest mother in the world."

The incidence of Siamese twin births is a rarity. Some medical authorities estimate its occurrence at once in 5 million births.

Survival Difficult

"The cases when separation can be attempted are rare, and survival for long is rarer." said Dr. Edith Potter, pathologist at the Chicago Lying-In Hospital. She is an authority on malformation in babies.

"Much depends on the complexity of involvement. Separation may present only a minor surgery problem. It might be an utter impossibility because of massive vital juncture."

Follow-up records on the survival of separated Siamese twins are not complete.

Thailand Twins

Dr. Potter said recent word reported a pair of twins, now 10 years old, doing fine in Thailand 8 years after their separation surgery at the University of Chicago.

They are Prissna and Nappit Polpinyo of Chumpair, Thailand. They were born May 25, 1953. The Chicago surgery March 29, 1955, separated their abdominal juncture.

Good survival prognosis was given in at least 3 American cases of separation surgery in the last 10 years of twins who now would be older than the Hutchens boys.

Prudence and Patricia Lowe, born April 11, 1962, in San Francisco are faring healthily following separation at the breastbone.

However, 4-day-old Daniel Bartley died last Wednesday at Los Angeles Children's Hospital following surgery on a common liver junction with his brother, David.

David Still Alive

Daniel and David were born by caesarean section to Mr. and Mrs. William Bartley Aug. 10. David still survives under 24-hour incubator care.

When Mrs. Hutchens read of the Bartley boy's death, she once again told herself, "I'm the luckiest mother in the world."

The Hutchens family moved to Livermore from Weatherford, Texas, last January with the twins, Gary and Lary, and their older brothers, Floyd 19 and Ronald 13.

Hutchens, a construction worker, is employed on a retirement community project.

Mrs. Hutchens, now 41, said her boys have never had an illness more serious than a cold since their separation surgery.

She said they are B students in school and both have just learned to swim.

"When they come up out of the water with their heads wet, even I can't tell for sure which is which."

Thief Who Looted Vending Firm Is Being Sought

Police Sunday night were looking for someone who broke into the Lincoln Canteen and Vending Co., 2100 Holdrege sometime Sunday.

Lt. Merl Hesser said about $1,000 in cigarets was taken. The building was entered when the intruder cut the screen in the rear door, broke a window, and pried a hasp loose on the door.

The intruder tried to break into the safe that was inside the building but failed. The intruder then took the safe outside and left it in the rear lawn.

Meredith Handed Ole Miss Degree

Oxford, Miss. (AP) — James H. Meredith graduated from the University of Mississippi Sunday, becoming the first Negro to take a degree at the school in its 115-year history.

It was a Sunday in sharp contrast to the one almost 11 months ago when he arrived on the oak-circled campus to become the first Negro ever enrolled.

That night, 322 days ago, the campus erupted into a riot of gunfire, exploding tear gas shells and flying brickbats.

Two were killed and hundreds injured before federal troops moved in to restore order and escort the slightly built, quiet-spoken young Negro through registration.

Like Any Other College

But Sunday was quiet. Except for the newsmen, on hand to watch the end of a chapter in the boiling civil rights controversy, it was like any other college campus at commencement time, and Meredith was like any other student marching up for his degree.

With his parents, his wife, his 3-year-old son and several Negro friends in the audience, Meredith walked solemnly through the outdoor ceremony with more than 350 other students.

He took his degree from chancellor John D. Williams, grasped Williams' hand briefly, accepting the traditional clasp of congratulations, and walked on.

In the audience, there wasn't a sound—the same silence that prevailed in the grove of huge trees while other graduates marched by the chancellor.

Near Riot Area

The graduates sat in a group in front of the speakers' platform in the grove—near the heart of the area where last fall's riot stormed through an entire night.

Behind the graduates sat the audience of about 2,500 persons—family and friends of the graduates.

Merideth's family and friends sat on a back row on one side—flanked on each side by an aisle—with white persons in the rows in front of them.

Other Negroes, numbering about 40, sat scattered through the audience.

Campus policemen ringed the area.

Several federal marshals—the guards who have kept watch on Meredith throughout his time at Ole Miss—were in the area.

Following the ceremony, the garduates filed out. As Meredith passed his family, he waved and the little boy waved back. Meredith was smiling.

Meredith had spent the last 4 days—the period between the last of his final exams and the graduation ceremony—at Jackson with his wife and son.

Barnett Out of State

Gov. Ross Barnett, who had repeatedly tried to block Meredith's enrollment and graduation, left the state early Sunday to attend the southern governor's conference at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va.

Dr. John A. Hunter, president of Louisiana State University, in his commencement speech, made only a slight reference to the Ole Miss crisis.

"For many years, the university and LSU have enjoyed a traditional rivalry on the gridiron," Hunter said. "But let this not obscure the fact that your traditional athletic rivals have been intensely sympathetic toward you in your time of crisis.

"It is to the credit of this institution, its officials, faculty and student body, that the academic traditions of Ole Miss have been sustained," he said.

The long years to graduation was a cliff-hanger most of the way. Meredith nearly flunked out. He came close to quitting. The pressure seldom let up.

But the last academic barrier to his graduation was lifted Saturday when the faculty formally granted his application for a bachelor's degree in political science.

Sports Car Buyer Provides Police With Train Theft Clue

London (AP) — A free-spending sports car buyer, possibly flashing cash stolen in the great train robbery, gave police a new lead in the hunt Sunday and turned himself into a No. 1 suspect.

On the day after the robbery he bought a car with cash, left a false address and vanished. The car was found abandoned near London airport Sunday night after police broadcast the news that they were looking for him.

It was the best clue of the day. Other officers spent fruitless hours tracking down clues offered by picnickers, hikers and others eager for a share of the reward.

Paid In Cash

The man who bought the car in West London paid $2,380. The large cash payment did not arouse suspicions at the auto agency as much as the fact that he failed to show up for servicing the next day.

After the agency contacted police, Detective Supt. Malcolm Fewtrell of the Buckinghamshire Police broadcast the license number and asked the public to find the car.

The car, a second-hand black Austin-Healey, was purchased at a London garage Aug. 9, the day after the Glasgow-London mail trail was robbed of $7,280,000 by a bandit gang.

Police have been waiting for members of the gang or their associates to start spending unusually large amounts of cash. The sports car buyer paid in five-pound ($14) bills. He was accompanied by a woman whose name he gave as Mary Mason, and said she was the buyer. He gave an address that police said turned out to be false.

Descriptions

The man was described as about 35, 6 feet tall and with a tanned complexion and pleasant manner. The woman, described as plump and of the same age, had a badly pitted face and what police described as "an unattractive London accent."

Reward-hunters also sent police on wild goose chases from London to the Scottish border. The public was cooperating with admirable, if excessive, zeal to the appeal for information about loot that may have been dumped because it has become too hot to handle.

Police hunted under Vauxhall Bridge in London after a milk truck driver reported seeing someone throwing packages into the River Thames before dawn. Nothing was found.

And at Lyndhurst, in Hampshire, police got a tip that two men were digging a big hole at the local golf course. Six officers hid in the brush, moved in slowly and pounced on two men digging foundations for a new clubhouse.

Buddhist Demonstration Involves 17,000 Persons

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — An estimated 17,000 persons sat through 12 hours of searing sun and torrential rain Sunday in the most impressive Buddhist demonstration yet against the South Vietnamese government.

Police kept up their guard around Saigon's main Buddhist pagoda but did not interfere as the crowd cheered anti-government speeches by monks standing on the pagoda roof. The monks proclaimed a 48-hour hunger strike to press their demands for what they call religious equality.

A high-ranking Roman Catholic clergyman in Saigon called, meanwhile, for understanding and moderation in the crisis.

The Buddhists charge that the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem discriminates against them in religious and economic matters. Diem is a Roman Catholic.

The demonstrators, mostly students and young people, sat in orderly rows in the streets around the pagoda. They waved banners accusing the government of barbarous treatment of Buddhists.

In Hue, 400 miles to the north, 5,000 persons turned out to attend the funeral of the Rev. Thich Tieu Dieu, who became the fifth Buddhist monk to burn himself to death as a protest against Diem's regime. Dieu was one of two monks who committed the sacrifical suicide by fire last week.

The monk's son, Professor Doan Van An, took a place in front of the crowd and tried to give a funeral oration, but broke down in tears.

In Saigon, Roman Catholic leaders distributed a new pastoral letter by Archbishop Paul Nguyean Van Binh, calling for "understanding, moderation and kindness" during the Buddhist crisis.

Israeli Arab Shot By Army Patrol

Tel Aviv, Israel (AP) — An army patrol killed an Israeli Arab and seriously wounded another in ther return from the United Arab Repoblic's Gaza Strip, an Israeli army spokesman reported Sunday. He claimed the men were on a spying mission for the Egyptians.

Later the spokesman said two Arab infiltrators from Jordan were killed in a clash with an Israeli army patrol in the eastern Negeb. He said patrols there had been reinforced because of repeated recent infiltration efforts.

6 Sorority Sisters Set To Head West

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wymore — Operation Cooperation is about to get under way.

Which means that 6 Nebraska sorority sisters will soon be continuing their careers in the Palmdale, Calif., school system. A 3-car Alpha Xi Delta "caravan" will head west this month — and that's only the start of the cooperation.

Five of the girls will rent a house together. And, says Susan Mall of Wymore, they'll "share chores and laughs and about everything but boy friends."

Carol Washburn of Lincoln and Jan Anderson of Arapahoe already have one and two years' experience in the southern California system.

Their letters helped lure 1963 University of Nebraska graduates Jan Zajic of Dorchester, Bettie Applebee of Omaha, Cay Curran of Lincoln and Miss Mall.

"We've been planning it for over a year," remarked Susan. Her Wymore home was the rendezvous for a final checking of departure plans.

Most of the girls will be teaching elementary classes, but Miss Anderson is a speech therapist. Three have been given assignments together in one school and two in another.

Why Palmdale?

Mainly because Carol and Jan were already teaching there, they all insist. The fact that two large air bases are nearby had nothing—well, practically nothing — to do with it.

Reward-hunters also sent police on wild goose chases from London to the Scottish border. The public was cooperating with admirable, if excessive, zeal to the appeal for information about loot that may have been dumped because it has become too hot to handle.

Police hunted under Vauxhall Bridge in London after a milk truck driver reported seeing someone throwing packages into the River Thames before dawn. Nothing was found.

And at Lyndhurst, in Hampshire, police got a tip that two men were digging a big hole at the local golf course. Six officers hid in the brush, moved in slowly and pounced on two men digging foundations for a new clubhouse.

Buddhist Demonstration Involves 17,000 Persons

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — An estimated 17,000 persons sat through 12 hours of searing sun and torrential rain Sunday in the most impressive Buddhist demonstration yet against the South Vietnamese government.

Police kept up their guard around Saigon's main Buddhist pagoda but did not interfere as the crowd cheered anti-government speeches by monks standing on the pagoda roof. The monks proclaimed a 48-hour hunger strike to press their demands for what they call religious equality.

A high-ranking Roman Catholic clergyman in Saigon called, meanwhile, for understanding and moderation in the crisis.

The Buddhists charge that the government of President Ngo Dinh Diem discriminates against them in religious and economic matters. Diem is a Roman Catholic.

The demonstrators, mostly students and young people, sat in orderly rows in the streets around the pagoda. They waved banners accusing the government of barbarous treatment of Buddhists.

In Hue, 400 miles to the north, 5,000 persons turned out to attend the funeral of the Rev. Thich Tieu Dieu, who became the fifth Buddhist monk to burn himself to death as a protest against Diem's regime. Dieu was one of two monks who committed the sacrifical suicide by fire last week.

The monk's son, Professor Doan Van An, took a place in front of the crowd and tried to give a funeral oration, but broke down in tears.

In Saigon, Roman Catholic leaders distributed a new pastoral letter by Archbishop Paul Nguyean Van Binh, calling for "understanding, moderation and kindness" during the Buddhist crisis.

6 Sorority Sisters Set To Head West

By DEAN TERRILL
Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Wymore — Operation Cooperation is about to get under way.

Which means that 6 Nebraska sorority sisters will soon be continuing their careers in the Palmdale, Calif., school system. A 3-car Alpha Xi Delta "caravan" will head west this month — and that's only the start of the cooperation.

Five of the girls will rent a house together. And, says Susan Mall of Wymore, they'll "share chores and laughs and about everything but boy friends."

Carol Washburn of Lincoln and Jan Anderson of Arapahoe already have one and two years' experience in the southern California system.

Their letters helped lure 1963 University of Nebraska graduates Jan Zajic of Dorchester, Bettie Applebee of Omaha, Cay Curran of Lincoln and Miss Mall.

"We've been planning it for over a year," remarked Susan. Her Wymore home was the rendezvous for a final checking of departure plans.

Most of the girls will be teaching elementary classes, but Miss Anderson is a speech therapist. Three have been given assignments together in one school and two in another.

Why Palmdaie?

Mainly because Carol and Jan were already teaching there, they all insist. The fact that two large air bases are nearby had nothing—well, practically nothing — to do with it.

2 JFK Dogs Given To Young Letter Writers

Hyannis Port, Mass. (UPI) —An Illinois girl and a boy from Columbia, Mo., in a deal "cleared" by Caroline Kennedy, Sunday received presidential gifts—two of the latest additions to the White House kennel.

Karen House, 10, of the Chicago suburb of Westchester, and Mark Bruce, 9, whose father is a minister, were picked by President and Mrs. Kennedy from among 5,000 letter-writing children who asked for the dogs.

They were born June 14 to Pushinka, a mongrel, and 5-year-old Caroline's Welsh terrier, Charlie. Pushinka is the offspring of the famous Russian space dog Strelka. She was sent as a gift to Mrs. Kennedy in June, 1961, by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Karen will get "butterfly," a female, and Mark will receive "Streaker," a male.

'Clearance'

The dogs were named by Caroline, who "cleared" the gift, Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen. He said the girl was "very enthusiastic" about giving the puppies to children who did not have dogs.

"The puppy will be taken care of so well it won't be funny," Karen said Sunday when she learned of the gift. "We have a big yard. Caroline already has named the dog 'Butterfly' so I'm going to keep that name."

The puppies will ride to Washington Monday aboard Kennedy's jetliner. Then they will be shipped to Karen and Mark, at Kennedy's expense.

Letters poured in to the White House, mostly from children, after the puppies were born on Flag Day.

Heard of Letters

The First Lady heard of the letters from youngsters all over the country requesting one of the puppies while she was in the hospital after the birth of Patrick Bouvier Kennedy, who died two days later.

She asked the White House correspondence section to pick 10 representative letters and send them to her. From the letters she selected the two children to be given the puppies.

Mark's appeal was based on the fact that his dog "Midget" had died "when I was swinging the bat and I accidentally hit her in the head." He told Mrs. Kennedy that Midget was his "dog care" project in the 4-H and if he had one of the pups, "I could continue in 4-H."

With all of Pushinka's 4 puppies to be given away, the White House kennel of 9 will dwindle to 5—including Pushinka, Charlie, Clipper, a German shepherd, Shannon, a blue roan cocker spaniel and a gray Irish wolfhound, still not named.

Other Two

Pushinka and Charlie's other two puppies—Blackie and White Tips—will be given away privately, Salinger said.

Karen wrote her letter in pencil on school pad paper, directly to the President.

"I would like to have one of your pretty dog puppies," she said. "I would like a puppy so much becuase I never had a dog before and I like your dog verry (sic) much. If you gave me a puppy I will be so happy."

"P.S.," she added "write me back and answer my letter please Mr. Kennedy. I don't know how to spell the name of the dog that just had the babbies (sic)."

Mark's Letter

Mark wrote his much longer letter on June 19. Written in pencil and on lined notebook paper, it read:

"Dear Mrs. Kennedy;

"The other day I heard on the radio that the dog Mr. Kruschev (sic) gave to you had pups and you didn't know what to do with them. On June 8 I was playing baseball. I was batting. Our dog Midget got behind me when I was swinging the bat and I accidentally hit her in the head. She died almost immediately.

"I'm a member of the Parkade 4-H. Midget was my project. I was in dog care. If you would let me have one of the pups I could continue in 4-H.

"The transportation may be a problem. My dad and brothers and few other boys will be going Washington D.C. for national R A Congress. If you will let us have it. They could pick it up. Thank you very much for your cooperation."

It was signed, "Your Friend Mark Bruce."

There is a new kind of contest going on in Nebraska that has no age limit and in which both rural and urban citizens can participate. The extension service in cooperation with the Game Commission is offering 200 trees to the persons who find and report the largest tree of 10 different species in Nebraska.

The largest tree in the state of the following species is being sought: Cottonwood, American Elm, Hackberry, Burr Oak, Black Walnut, Green Ash, Linden, Honey Locust, Ponderosa Pine and Red Cedar.

Karl A. Loerch, extension forester, requests people submitting entries to name the species, give the girth measured at a point 4 and one half feet above ground level, approximate height and spread of the tree and its location as precisely as possible.

This information should be sent to "Trees. Game Commission, State Capitol, Lincoln 9, Nebraska."

Erratic performance of established wheat varieties has some farmers confused as to what variety they should select for fall planting.

"Not only is the farmer confronted with a decision on how many acres he should plant with the defeat of the referendum, many are undecided what variety should go into the ground for the 1964 crop," explained a farmer visiting the Gage County fair.

"Except for the south central and central cropping districts, odds certainly favor the farmer who continues to plant one of the varieties presently recommended by the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment," say extension workers.

This brochure tells the story of small watersheds in Nebraska from their beginning in 1937 to the present with 62 small watershed applications now on file which will cover 3,780,237 acres in the state.

"Watersheds are a story of people — people working together in a community spirit to solve common problems," says the watershed brochure.

Our vote this week for one of the best news reporters in club work must go to 12-year-old Peggy Hunt of Route 8, Lincoln, who is scribe for the Junior Langraettes, a cooking and sewing 4-H club.

In reporting the achievement night for her club Peggy even bested a good many of her elders by knowing the correct spelling of all participants, their addresses and what they did in the demonstration contest.

Peggy wants to be a home economist and we are ready to bet that she has the fundamentals it takes to tell the children of another generation how to get the job done.

Hunt Judged Best Driver In 4-H Meet

Bob Hunt, 18, of Route 8, Lincoln, was judged the best 4-H tractor operator in the Lancaster County contest. The meet was held at the Bernard Sullivan farm, Route 1, Lincoln.

Hunt's next competition will be in the state fair 4-H tractor drivers contest where he will be pitted against other county winners. The winner of the state event will participate in the Western United States 4-H Tractor Operators' Contest.

Hunt's win came following 5 years of 4-H tractor projects, according to Emery Nelson, county extension agent.

The second place honors went to Gene Meyers of Route 1, Lincoln. Other contestants were Wayne Nielsen, Davey; Gary Nielsen, Davey; and David Mutchie of Ceresco.

Five Persons Die In Head-On Crash

Custer, S.D. (AP) — A naval officer, his wife and 3 daughters were killed Saturday night in a head-on collision on a rainy South Dakota highway just east of the Wyoming border.

Names of the victims were withheld about 22 hours by the State Highway Patrol.

Killed were Lt. Cmdr. Jay Murphy Duncan, 39, Oxnard, Calif.; his wife, Ola, 38, and their daughters, Helen, 8; Joy Marie, 2; and Rebecca Jean, 6.

Duncan had been stationed at the Point Mugu, Calif., navy base and was en route to a new assignment.

Plane Nearly Wrecked By Cows On Runway

Mexico City (AP)—Air France pilot Jean Bideau gunned a Boeing 707 jet with 123 passengers aboard—down the runway for a takeoff Saturday—and 15 cows loomed in front of him. Bideau increased the jet's power and got into the air, missing the cows by a few feet.

Airport authorities said the roar of the jet engines apparently stampeded the cows onto the airstrip from an area nearby. Police said they were unable to determine who owned the cows.

The extension service in cooperation with the Game Commission is offering 200 trees to the persons who find and report the largest tree of 10 different species in Nebraska.

The largest tree in the state of the following species is being sought: Cottonwood, American Elm, Hackberry, Burr Oak, Black Walnut, Green Ash, Linden, Honey Locust, Ponderosa Pine and Red Cedar.

Karl A. Loerch, extension forester, requests people submitting entries to name the species, give the girth measured at a point 4 and one half feet above ground level, approximate height and spread of the tree and its location as precisely as possible.

This information should be sent to "Trees, Game Commission, State Capitol, Lincoln 9, Nebraska."

Erratic performance of established wheat varieties has some farmers confused as to what variety they should select for fall planting.

"Not only is the farmer confronted with a decision on how many acres he should plant with the defeat of the referendum, many are undecided what variety should go into the ground for the 1964 crop," explained a farmer visiting the Gage County fair.

"Except for the south central and central cropping districts, odds certainly favor the farmer who continues to plant one of the varieties presently recommended by the Nebraska Agricultural Experiment," say extension workers.

This brochure tells the story of small watersheds in Nebraska from their beginning in 1937 to the present with 62 small watershed applications now on file which will cover 3,780,237 acres in the state.

"Watersheds are a story of people — people working together in a community spirit to solve common problems," says the watershed brochure.

Our vote this week for one of the best news reporters in club work must go to 12-year-old Peggy Hunt of Route 8, Lincoln, who is scribe for the Junior Langraettes, a cooking and sewing 4-H club.

In reporting the achievement night for her club Peggy even bested a good many of her elders by knowing the correct spelling of all participants, their addresses and what they did in the demonstration contest.

Peggy wants to be a home economist and we are ready to bet that she has the fundamentals it takes to tell the children of another generation how to get the job done.

NFO Leader Says No Holding Action

. . . SCOTCHES RUMORS

Weeping Water (AP)—Rumors that the National Farmers Organization is planning an immediate new market rebellion throughout the Midwest were scotched Sunday night by Howard Rathe of Weeping Water.

The Nebraska NFO president said the national board of directors, of which he is a member, had made no decision yet on an all-out holding effort.

"We did decide at our last board meeting," he said, "that we could authorize a hold that would include dairy products as well as livestock on a 24-hour notice, but there has been no hold called for Monday."

Rathe said the national board would meet later in the month and he was sure the subject of a general holding action would come up, but he didn't know what the decision would be.

Rumors Persist

Corning, Iowa (UPI) — Officers of the National Farmers Oragnization (NFO) remained non-committal Sunday as rumors persisted that the militant farm group would launch a new market rebellion throughout the nation's "bread basket" Monday.

NFO headquarters in this quiet little southwestern Iowa town was deserted Sunday. The bylaws prohibit board of directors' meetings on Sunday.

No Comment

Oren Lee Staley, president since the NFO was founded 8 years ago, has declined to give any hint if, or when, the board might decide to end the "recess" on the "all-out holding action" that was staged at major livestock markets and interior buying stations last fall.

"It's sure to come, but when is something the directors will decide when they think the time is right," Staley said.

He insisted that the appearance of sign-and placard-bearing NFO members at Midwestern stockyards last week was only an outcropping of "local sentiment" favoring reinstatement of the program of withholding livestock and other farm products from market.

Bargaining Aim

"Activity is building and processors are responding by contacting NFO officers to arrange bargaining sessions and sign contracts," guaranteeing the minimum prices NFO feels are needed to make farming profitable."

Staley has indicated that "when the iron is hot enough" to reinstate the holding action on livestock, milk would be added to the list of products withheld from market "at least in some areas."

2 Sisters Of JFK Now In Budapest

Budapest, Hungary (AP)—Two sisters of President Kennedy arrived in Budapest Sunday for a two-day visit safe and sound in spite of raging storms on the route they took by car from Vienna.

On their arrival, black clouds were emptying torrential rain on the Hungarian capital. Winds accompanying the thunderstorm blew off roofs and uprooted trees along the city's broad avenues.

Undaunted, Mrs. Stephen Smith and Mrs. Peter Lawford immediately set out for a hairdressing salon to have their water-drenched coiffures touched up.

A high pressure zone centered over extreme western New York extends westwards over Iowa and Nebraska will become more intense as the weakening low center in southeastern Kansas moves eastward. 11-Year-Old Boy Dies In Head-On Crash In Omaha

Omaha (AP) — An 11-year-old Omaha boy was killed Sunday in a two-car, head-on collision in an Omaha residential area.

The victim was identifed as Wasyl Leon Boulbasz. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

The boy was thrown through the windshield of his father's car which was in collision with a vehicle driven by Donald Troshynski of Omaha.

Police said Troshynski was driving east and was in the wrong lane. Troshynski and the dead boy's father Semeon Boulbasz, were taken to a hospital suffering arm and lip lacerations, and possible internal injuries.

Also injured were two other Boulbasz children, 11-year-old Bohder, and 4-year-old Stepheny. Both suffered cuts and bruises.

The death raised the state highway fatality toll for the year to 198, compared with 218 a year ago.

Doomed Moonshiner Kills 2, Flees

Littleville, Ala. (UPI)—A maddened moonshiner with only a few months to live killed a sheriff and a police chief with a single shotgun blast Sunday and fled to the woods in a car driven by his daughter.

After felling the officers with the shotgun, Troy Thornton, 40, grabbed up a rifle and shot another officer through the stomach, critically wounding him.

Then he forced his daughter to drive him to the thick, hilly woods, where he disappeared with the rifle and the shotgun.

Bloodhounds At Work

Hours later, bloodhounds shipped in from as far away as Mississippi were leading a posse of 250 men through the tangled forest, but Thornton had not been found.

Relatives said Thornton's doctor recently told him he had cancer and could live only a few months longer. "He thinks he has nothing to lose," his wife said.

Police said Colbert County Sheriff Herman (Red) Cook, Police Chief Neil Pace, Chief Deputy Don Files and Deputy Ray Murray came to Thornton's burned-out house to see if he was hauling illegal whisky.

He has been convicted twice for moonshining.

They found Thornton lying on a metal glider outside the remains of his home, which burned down about a year ago. He has been living with his daughter Carolyn, 18, 7 miles away in Russellville.

Hit the Dirt

When the 4 men approached, Thornton leaped up with a single-shot shotgun in his hands. The officers hit the dirt.

Murray said Thornton shouted:

"I'll quit if you will. Just stand up." The officers declined.

"He shot and I hunkered down," Murray said. "Then he shot again. That was the one that killed Cook and Pace. Then he shot again. I hunkered down some more."

Cook and Pace, lying close together, raised up and caught the charge from the single shotgun blast in the face. Pace, this little northwest Alabama's town's only policeman, was killed instantly.

Sheriff Cook died a few moments later in the arms of a highway patrolman.

Files, hit in the stomach with a rifle slug, underwent surgery in a Russellville hospital.

Ran Into The Woods

Thornton leaped into his car and fled. His daughter, found in the car in Russelville, said her father forced her to drive him about 3 miles, where he jumped out and ran into the woods.

Thornton's family, including his other two daughters, aged 8 and 6, were taken into protective custody.

The woods where Thornton fled are so thick, one officer said, that it is impossible to see more than 10 yards in the daylight. A drizzling rain pelted the posse probing the undergrowth.

2 Persons Hurt In Two Lincoln Auto Accidents

Two separate two-car collisions Sunday evening slightly injured a 16-year-old Las Vegas, Nev., girl and a 27-year-old Blair man.

Ruth A. Lomax, of Las Vegas, was treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital for cuts to her legs and was released.

Police said Miss Lomax was a passenger in a car driven by Roger V. Yant, 16, of 4100 Fiene Blvd., that was in collision with a vehicle driven by Gladys M. Vifquain, 61, of 1803 E. Mrs. Vifquain suffered a slight bump on the head, but refused medical treatment, police reports said.

Robert Arterburn, 27, of Blair, was slightly injured in the second collision, at 70th and Cornhusker Highway.

Police said the Arterburn vehicle collided with a car driven by Bryan McDonald, 54, of Murdock, after the McDonald vehicle suddenly stopped to avoid a collision with a car that turned in front of it.

Arterburn refused immediate medical attention, according to police.

10-Year-Old Boy Requires Surgery After Auto Crash

A 10-year-old Greeley boy underwent surgery at Bryan Memorial Hospital Sunday evening after he suffered severe facial cuts in a two-car collision at 10th and Cornhusker Highway.

Police identified the boy as Billy Flickinger, who was riding in a car driven by his father, Charles L., westbound on Cornhusker.

The driver of the northbound car was identified as John B. Hickey, 54, of 1724 N.

Helen Toland, of 1345 So. 18th, a passenger in the Hickey vehicle, was listed in fair condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She also suffered facial cuts.

Collision Causes Big Damage To Traffic Controls

A two-car collision at 17th and K Sunday afternoon slightly injured a 69-year-old Lincoln man and did an estimated $1,500 damage to a traffic signal control box that was sheared off by one of the cars as it jumped the curb.

Police identified the injured as Ray Wright, of 4848 Holdrege. He went to a private physician.

The driver of the other car was identified as Jack Callaway, 28, of 2001 Twin Ridge Road.

The officer said both vehicles were eastbound on K, and both were making right turns onto 17th.

Two stop signs on 17th and two stop signs on K were erected by the city after the signal lights were knocked out.

11-Year-Old Boy Dies In Head-On Crash In Omaha

Omaha (AP) — An 11-year-old Omaha boy was killed Sunday in a two-car, head-on collision in an Omaha residential area.

The victim was identifed as Wasyl Leon Boulbasz. He was dead on arrival at a hospital.

The boy was thrown through the windshield of his father's car which was in collision with a vehicle driven by Donald Troshynski of Omaha.

Police said Troshynski was driving east and was in the wrong lane. Troshynski and the dead boy's father Semeon Boulbasz, were taken to a hospital suffering arm and lip lacerations, and possible internal injuries.

Also injured were two other Boulbasz children, 11-year-old Bohder, and 4-year-old Stepheny. Both suffered cuts and bruises.

The death raised the state highway fatality toll for the year to 198, compared with 218 a year ago.

Doomed Moonshiner Kills 2, Flees

Littleville, Ala. (UPI)—A maddened moonshiner with only a few months to live killed a sheriff and a police chief with a single shotgun blast Sunday and fled to the woods in a car driven by his daughter.

After felling the officers with the shotgun, Troy Thornton, 40, grabbed up a rifle and shot another officer through the stomach, critically wounding him.

Then he forced his daughter to drive him to the thick, hilly woods, where he disappeared with the rifle and the shotgun.

Bloodhounds At Work

Hours later, bloodhounds shipped in from as far away as Mississippi were leading a posse of 250 men through the tangled forest, but Thornton had not been found.

Relatives said Thornton's doctor recently told him he had cancer and could live only a few months longer. "He thinks he has nothing to lose," his wife said.

Police said Colbert County Sheriff Herman (Red) Cook, Police Chief Neil Pace, Chief Deputy Don Files and Deputy Ray Murray came to Thornton's burned-out house to see if he was hauling illegal whisky.

He has been convicted twice for moonshining.

They found Thornton lying on a metal glider outside the remains of his home, which burned down about a year ago. He has been living with his daughter Carolyn, 18, 7 miles away in Russellville.

Hit the Dirt

When the 4 men approached, Thornton leaped up with a single-shot shotgun in his hands. The officers hit the dirt.

Murray said Thornton shouted:

"I'll quit if you will. Just stand up." The officers declined.

"He shot and I hunkered down," Murray said. "Then he shot again. That was the one that killed Cook and Pace. Then he shot again. I hunkered down some more."

Cook and Pace, lying close together, raised up and caught the charge from the single shotgun blast in the face. Pace, this little northwest Alabama's town's only policeman, was killed instantly.

Sheriff Cook died a few moments later in the arms of a highway patrolman.

Files, hit in the stomach with a rifle slug, underwent surgery in a Russellville hospital.

Ran Into The Woods

Thornton leaped into his car and fled. His daughter, found in the car in Russelville, said her father forced her to drive him about 3 miles, where he jumped out and ran into the woods.

Thornton's family, including his other two daughters, aged 8 and 6, were taken into protective custody.

The woods where Thornton fled are so thick, one officer said, that it is impossible to see more than 10 yards in the daylight. A drizzling rain pelted the posse probing the undergrowth.

2 Persons Hurt In Two Lincoln Auto Accidents

Two separate two-car collisions Sunday evening slightly injured a 16-year-old Las Vegas, Nev., girl and a 27-year-old Blair man.

Ruth A. Lomax, of Las Vegas, was treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital for cuts to her legs and was released.

Police said Miss Lomax was a passenger in a car driven by Roger V. Yant, 16, of 4100 Fiene Blvd., that was in collision with a vehicle driven by Gladys M. Vifquain, 61, of 1803 E. Mrs. Vifquain suffered a slight bump on the head, but refused medical treatment, police reports said.

Robert Arterburn, 27, of Blair, was slightly injured in the second collision, at 70th and Cornhusker Highway.

Police said the Arterburn vehicle collided with a car driven by Bryan McDonald, 54, of Murdock, after the McDonald vehicle suddenly stopped to avoid a collision with a car that turned in front of it.

Arterburn refused immediate medical attention, according to police.

10-Year-Old Boy Requires Surgery After Auto Crash

A 10-year-old Greeley boy underwent surgery at Bryan Memorial Hospital Sunday evening after he suffered severe facial cuts in a two-car collision at 10th and Cornhusker Highway.

Police identified the boy as Billy Flickinger, who was riding in a car driven by his father, Charles L., westbound on Cornhusker.

The driver of the northbound car was identified as John B. Hickey, 54, of 1724 N.

Helen Toland, of 1345 So. 18th, a passenger in the Hickey vehicle, was listed in fair condition at St. Elizabeth Hospital. She also suffered facial cuts.

Collision Causes Big Damage To Traffic Controls

A two-car collision at 17th and K Sunday afternoon slightly injured a 69-year-old Lincoln man and did an estimated $1,500 damage to a traffic signal control box that was sheared off by one of the cars as it jumped the curb.

Police identified the injured as Ray Wright, of 4848 Holdrege. He went to a private physician.

The driver of the other car was identified as Jack Callaway, 28, of 2001 Twin Ridge Road.

The officer said both vehicles were eastbound on K, and both were making right turns onto 17th.

Two stop signs on 17th and two stop signs on K were erected by the city after the signal lights were knocked out.

The Strategic Hamlet

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

(Editor William O. Dobler is on vacation. Today's column is by the Associated Press writer, Malcolm W. Browne.)

SAIGON, Viet Nam — Final victory over communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam is going to take longer than was anticipated a year ago, key officials here believe. Part of the cause is that problems are developing in the strategic hamlet program, a centerpiece in the program for winning.

A Prolonged Campaign

Top planners believe the basic battle plan used up to now is the correct one, and that substantial gains have been made. But they concede there have been serious snags, especially in the Nekong River delta. And the whole job has turned out to be infinitely more complicated than once believed. No one is predicting how long victory will take. But officials are digging in for a long campaign. And it grinds on. At the core of South Viet Nam's anti-communist program is a rural community officials call the strategic hamlet. They feel the strategic hamlet can do what armed divisions alone cannot.

Typically, a strategic hamlet is an orderly grouping of several hundred huts made of bamboo, dried palm fronds and rice thatch. It is surrounded by barbed wire, booby-trapped moats and minefields. Setting up these hamlets during the past year has been given top war priority. The United States alone has spent or earmarked $35 million for the program.

Latest official statistics claim 7,205 strategic hamlets have been completed, in which nearly two-thirds of South Viet Nam's population is now living. The communists call these hamlets "U.S. Diem concentration camps," and claim the Viet Cong guerrillas have destroyed 2,000 of them in the last six months. Vietnamese and American officials call the strategic hamlets the great hope for final victory, and the key to national rehabilitation.

Whenever possible, peasants in the hamlets are being trained and armed to protect themselves against marauding communist units. Two-way radios are being installed to improve warning systems. Hamlet councils have been created which, in principle, give the peasants a measure of democracy.

But most of all, the strategic hamlet program is aimed at tight population control, with a view to keeping loyal citizens segregated from the Viet Cong. All men and women over 18 carry identity cards, with photograph, fingerprints, exact address, occupation and serial number. Movement from one place to another in Viet Nam requires a police visa, and permanent moves required changed identity cards.

Each morning, the strategic hamlet farmer leads his muddy team of water buffalo past gate guards, to whom he must surrender his identity cards. In exchange, he gets a one-day field pass. He must be back inside before the hamlet gate closes for the night. This is to prevent infiltration of Viet Cong agents.

The grand plan calls for organizing stragetic hamlets along all lines of communication, especially roads and canals. The second phase of the plan is to build hamlets in lines crossing the primary communication lines, in a kind of checkerboard pattern. This boxing effect is supposed to cut Viet Cong supply lines and isolate the communists into small units, which theoretically will wither away.

But the program is viewed as spread much too thin in certain "contented areas," and American officials feel there will be reverses in these regions.

★

A particular sore area is the fertile Mekong River delta and the other provinces south of Saigon. The region is vital, partly because it grows most of the nation's produce and partly because it encompasses nearly half the national population. Most of the Viet Cong's hard-core fighting strength is here.

Many-Sided Problem

Problems of strategic hamlet building in the delta are partly geographic. A major proportion of existing hamlets are strung along canals, which lace the whole country side. These hamlets may be miles long but only one or two houses deep. Another problem is historic. The Saigon government holds out as one of its major blandishments to the peasants a policy of land reform and redistribution. But since the end of French colonial rule in 1954, it has not been possible to bring the policy to completion. This is largely because the Viet Cong has held and administered large areas and has instituted its own land reform policies. Another aspect of the problem is the family and social ties linking the delta with communism for many years.

"In Kien Hoa province, many people are proud that their province has produced some of communist North Viet Nam's top leaders," an informed American said. "Many have relatives in the north. Many look on this war as an extension of the old war against the French, and feel the Viet Cong will lead them to victory."

A Lot Of Nerve

Twenty-three grange state Republican Congressmen have banded together to insist on immediate action on new wheat legislation.

Most of the group busied themselves earlier in the year campaigning against the administration's wheat program and contributed their part to its defeat in a wheat growers referendum. Most of them promised a new and better program.

Well, they were congressmen then. They are congressmen now. It is their privilege to write bills and to make law. Let them do so. And if they could promise a new law earlier, let them now deliver on their promise.

A newspaper in support of them asserted that the group's demand on the administration looked to 1964, election year. That is a pretty bald confession that the group is working on a political problem not a farm problem.

The report also went on to say that some of the group conceded privately that it is too late in the session to expect anything more in the matter of wheat legislation. If this is the case, then why the demand for an impracticability?

By inference a group that will play politics with the wheat problem confronting the planters played politics with it earlier when there was a program. This whole movement seems a little crass. It remains for the planter to draw his conclusions. If he is in a fix, his vote contributed to it. If he listened to political advice and not economic advice, he should also reflect upon that.

Back To The Jungle

Earlier this month Mao Tse-tung addressed a delegation from African countries visiting Pieping. It was couched in the language of communism but the melody was different.

Mao called for a rising of colored races against the white race. He pictured the fascist white man, principally the American, as the thing to be disposed of first. If he had in mind any social or national progress it would have to be afterward.

This is just about the last revelation describing the pathologic attitude of Chinese leadership. First, a war of general extermination from which China would survive, second a determined drive for more land at the expense of the present occupants. Now third the destruction of the white race, if not in terms of death, itself, then in terms of such powerlessness that the white man could no longer make a contribution to human advancement. This is about as primitive and jungle-like as one could imagine. It is difficult to see how China can ever develop into a constructive force when driven by such passion.

Mao overlooks the facts of history. The white man himself is struggling against racism. He has largely quit the field of colonialism. He is assisting as best he can the rise of the underdeveloped people. He represents the western man, not all of whom are white.

If, for a time, the western man ascended to power he did so by fortuitous circumstances which placed advanced instruments in his hand. That he did not always act with justice is a description of his stage of development along the scale of civilization. But the fact that he is willing to share his sophisticated instruments with those who have not yet learned to use them demonstrates his desire to deal equally with all people and all races. We doubt that Mao would ever be so philanthropic.

When In Doubt Punt

Just when the special legislative committee assigned to probe Nebraska's credit finance problem was on the verge of decision, it punted.

Normally, we don't care much for a punt. No one ever scored punting. But, admittedly, there are times when the punt is the wisest choice of alternatives—and, in defense of the committee action, this may well have been one of those times.

No one has yet been able to unscramble the installment sales puzzle. The court has not yet done it. The industry and its attorneys have been unable to do it. Legislators themselves have not done it.

The State Supreme Court has been presented two motions for rehearing in its installment sales decisions which have raised all the issues which still lie in the dark area of uncertainty. Perhaps, when the court has had an opportunity to act on those briefs—very likely this fall—the pieces may fall better into place.

But until the court has acted, and perhaps even after it has acted, much of the decision-making facing the legislative committee is largely a matter of conjecture. That is why punting now to gain a little time and a better field position may well have been the wise move.

Clearly, the lawmakers must consider the desires of two interests. First, they must consider what is best for the public. And that not only means a decision as to fair and just maximum rates of interest and time-sales charges, but also a decision which will not threaten an economy dependent upon credit for its growth.

When Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer pointed out the possible consequences of a class test suit of the new installment sales act, the committee punted in the interests of both the public and the industry.

Both should be consulted, and the ultimate decision must be made in the interests of both. Clearly, the public interest comes first—but we should not lose sight of the fact that a decision which is fair and just to the industry is also in the public interest.

JFK Draws Line On Harvard Pal

(Editor's note — Drew Pearson has gone abroad to interview world leaders and report on the prospects for peace. The Washington scene is covered by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's friends and relatives, classmates and professors have found success in government since 1961. But at least one Harvard roommate has been given the bum's rush by the Kennedy administration.

He is Langdon P. Marvin, Jr., the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's godson, who briefly roomed with Kennedy at Harvard and was elected "first marshal of the class of 1941."

Marvin came to Washington ahead of Kennedy as a Senate counsel, stayed on to represent the small airlines.

When JFK was elected to Congress, Marvin helped to break him in, later helped to settle him in the Senate. Occasionally, they vacationed together at Hyannis Port, Bar Harbor, and Palm Beach.

In return, Kennedy arranged free office space for Marvin at the Library of Congress.

Then Langdon P. began to get bad publicity. First, several congressmen squawked about his free hangout at the Library of Congress. Then he took a Minneapolis heiress on a 140-mile ride just before her wedding and tried in vain to persuade her to change her plans and marry him.

Marvin campaigned for JFK in 1960. After the election, Marvin's foes in the airline industry wrote to Robert Kennedy in alarm, warning against the appointment of Marvin to high office.

Back came a letter from the President's brother: "I assure you that Langdon Marvin will not be a part of the administration. He will not have a job of any kind and will play no role, directly or indirectly, in the policies of the administration.

"Your sentiments regarding Mr. Marvin are exactly in accord with mine, and I assure you that, when I say that Langdon Marvin will have nothing to do with the government for the next four years, I mean what I say."

True to Robert Kennedy's word, all administration doors have been slammed in Marvin's face. The final indignity came the other day when his picture was posted with White House guards as another undesirable who is to be kept out.

Ban Debate Should Dispel Fantasy

WASHINGTON—With the cloak of secrecy kept so tight around the whole complex business of nuclear weapons development, what a lot of senators—and most of the rest of us—do not know is now coming to light.

Myth and fantasy get in the way of facts in the debate over the test-ban treaty. If this is an impediment to ratification, then secrecy —many would say excessive secrecy—is one reason.

In the fantasy line, Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois is a challenging runner-up. Shortly after the treaty was made public he issued a statement saying that the United States might "find itself in the role of a co-partner extending sanction by treaty to the underground development of nuclear warheads by Cuba."

The senator did not say how Cuba would get nuclear warheads. Presumably they would be provided by the Soviet Union for testing in those caves. But since this would almost certainly be detected by the United States, and since it would be a violation of the treaty, we would be free to take retaliatory measures at once.

After 10 years and at least a billion dollars—probably nearer two billion—France has exploded three nuclear devices in the atmosphere in the Sahara proving ground.

Communist China has been in the game for more than 10 years. Up until 1959 or early '60 the Soviets furnished men and material. The cutoff is believed to have slowed the project. The best guess is that some time in the next 12 months the Chinese will set off a crude nuclear device. And that means, as secretary of Defense Robert McNamara said in response to a question about France, that they are "years and years and years" away from anything like the American capability.

☆ ☆ ☆

In preparation for the test-ban debate, earnest soul-searching went on in the White House on lifting, at least in part, the secrecy cloak. Whether in open or closed session before the Senate Foreign Relations committee, the two points to be stressed are:

1. The Soviets have had not more than seven underground tests. Therefore, if they were to set out to catch up with the United States in small nuclear arms by this means, it would take an estimated two years of costly preparation. The United States since 1961 has made 65 underground tests.

2. This country deliberately decided against the massive megaton bomb in the belief that greater accuracy can be achieved with smaller megatonnage. Nevertheless, in the American arsenal are bombs of up to 50 megatons.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Senate hearings can be a useful forum for dispelling some of the mystification that has surrounded the ultimate weapon. The public as well as the Senate is entitled to know, within the bounds of reasonable security, what is fact and what is fantasy. There will be witnesses counting on mystification to serve their ends. The committee should have the facts from official sources as a proper measuring rod for such a tactic.

NATHANIEL BOWDITCH

Profiles In Science

Nathaniel Bowditch, the American mathematician and authority on navigation, is a classic example of the self-educated man. One hears jokes about learning by reading from an encyclopedia from A to Z. Bowditch actually did it.

He was born in Massachusetts in 1773. His father was a poor cooper, or barrel maker, and when Nathaniel was only 10 he had to leave school to work in his father's cooperage. He had shown a great interest and aptitude in mathematics and had enough perseverance to continue to study after being withdrawn from school.

At 13 he was apprenticed to a supplier of ship's stores and stayed with him until he was 21. During these years he mastered algebra without help, learned navigation from a retired sea captain, studied Latin so that he could read Newton's "Principia" and taught himself to read French.

Besides going through an encyclopedia from beginning to end, he did the same thing with the Bible and the complete works of Shakespeare.

When he was 22, Bowditch went to sea, traveling to many of the countries of the world he had previously only read of. He became a ship's master, and his knowledge of navigation brought him a local fame when he sailed his ship into Salem harbor during a storm that had hidden all landmarks. Bowditch guided the ship by dead reckoning after catching a momentary glimpse of an island outside the small harbor.

Bowditch was hired to correct a generally-accepted work on navigation, but because it held so many errors he decided to write a completely new book. This was the famous "American Practical Navigator," published in 1802. It at once became the standard authority in both the United States and England.

Bowditch gave up his seafaring to write a translation and commentary on Pierre Laplace's famous and gigantic work, "Celestial Mechanics."

☆ ☆ ☆

Laplace, the "French Newton," had applied the laws of gravity to the movements of heavenly bodies in the solar system and made it possible to study their orbits and "perturbations" more accurately.

Bowditch's translation and commentary of Laplace was published in four volumes, the fourth not coming out until after his death in 1838.

He insisted upon publishing the monumental work at his own expense and refused the help of men of science and learning in England and America, many of whom asked to be allowed to subscribe.

Bowditch had been offered professorships at Harvard and other schools, which he had refused to continue his Laplace translation. Other honors heaped upon him before his death were membership in the Royal Society of London, the Royal Astronomical Society and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

PIERRE J. HUSS

Nikita Works Out Succession Plan

NEW YORK — Pushing 70, Nikita Khrushchev shows no relaxation of his grip on political control of the Kremlin and in this turbulent year has skillfully sidestepped or weathered the storms inside and outside Russia that might have swept dictators of his ilk into discard.

Last spring, while host to his bearded Cuban Stooge Fidel Castro, he announced his intention to visit Havana. Past experience has shown that any dictator or head of a totalitarian system must be sure of his position at home before he dares leave for an extended absence abroad. Otherwise he may not have a capital to come back to unless he risks sudden death at the hands of political plotters who usurped his power.

Castro actually surprised cagey observers in the Western hemisphere by boldly going to Moscow and returning to Havana two months later without losing ground or facing plots to oust him. The answer, of course, lies in the presence of nearly 20,000 Soviet troops at that time holding the political fort for him.

On the face of the present situation in Russia and the outside world, Khrushchev without doubt has enough power and control in the Kremlin to sally forth on a communist propaganda tour not only to Cuba but to New York for personal appearances before the autumn session of the UN Assembly. He has much to gain and nothing to lose by such actions, and the chances are he can recoup the prestige he lost in his fist-and shoe-pounding tirades three years ago when he exasperated the Africans and Asians along with most Europeans with his boorish behavior and ultimatums against the late Dag Hammarskjold.

But powerful and firm in the driver's seat as he is, Khrushchev still has to make certain that his back is covered while he is 6,000 miles away from the Kremlin. He took care of that contingency at the plenary meetings in June or the Central Committee of the Communist party by selecting as his heir and "crown prince" Leonid I. Brezhnev — a protege he can trust. Khrushchev extolled the 57-year-old hard-nosed communist to the committee in flower prose, and appointed him to the secretariat, which is the chief executive body of the party. That put the dark, heavy-browed Brezhnev into an array of positions that leave no doubt as to who is supposed to succeed Khrushchev.

Things don't always work out that way, of course, especially in a dog-eat-dog political arena like the Kremlin. Khrushchev evidently has this in mind and gave the selection of Brezhnev considerable thought. As far back as 1959, he told U.S. emissary Averell Harriman that he intends to avoid the fierce struggle which followed in the wake of Stalin's death for controlling power in the Kremlin. The disputes between the factions of Viacheslav Molotov and Georgi Malenkov weakened the Soviet Union in its internal and world position, and undermined Communist parties everywhere.

"I shall not repeat Stalin's mistakes," he told Harriman. "Comrade Stalin did nothing to regulate his succession in good time. We will prepare a smooth transition."

Brezhnev owes his rise to Kremlin peaks solely to Khrushchev, and without a doubt knows that his mentor can break him at any time he so desires. But the new "crown prince" has the reputation of being a shrewd politician and total disciple of Khrushchev's political and economic philosophy. He will know how to cover Nikita's back while the latter is abroad.

In the slippery hierarchy of the Kremlin, it is not wise to put all your eggs in one basket. The elimination of Khrushchev's long-trained successor and friend Frol Kozlov by sudden grave illness demonstrated that the best laid plans go wrong. So Nikita steered the central committee into picking a "second" man in case Brezhnev goes down the drain. The "stand-in" is Nikolai V. Podgorny, a member of the presidium and party chief of the Ukraine. Appointment of this 60-year-old to the secretariat also balanced off the influence exerted by Brezhnev as top man to Khrushchev, and mollified those who felt a little miffed by Khrushchev's selection.

Although the stacking of the succession promises to stick, in no sense did it wash aside several big shots in the Communist party who may be dreaming that their turn will come some day. For a long time, foreign experts speculated on Mikhail A. Suslov. But those in the know predicted that he would never make it because he has been branded as too much of a theorist.

Another prospect mentioned prominently is Alexei Kosygin, an economic expert consulted by Khrushchev with unfailing regularity. He is discounted nowadays on the grounds that he lacks popularity and political know-how. The other promising comer on the horizon, a favorite of Khrushchev, is Alexander Shelepin. Although only 45 years old, he has been moved into the post which controls the party and state. Any sudden elimination of the previously mentioned candidates in Khrushchev's stable could bring him to the top.

There are no doubt some elements in the heirarchy who intend to challenge the ready-made succession when Khrushchev is gone. That would touch off a new dogfight and probably a purge. For the time being, we have to reconcile ourselves to the plain fact that Nikita Khrushchev rules the Kremlin and is second to none in the communist world.

The Strategic Hamlet

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

(Editor William O. Dobler is on vacation. Today's column is by the Associated Press writer, Malcolm W. Browne.)

SAIGON, Viet Nam — Final victory over communist guerrillas in South Viet Nam is going to take longer than was anticipated a year ago, key officials here believe. Part of the cause is that problems are developing in the strategic hamlet program, a centerpiece in the program for winning.

A Prolonged Campaign

Top planners believe the basic battle plan used up to now is the correct one, and that substantial gains have been made. But they concede there have been serious snags, especially in the Nekong River delta. And the whole job has turned out to be infinitely more complicated than once believed. No one is predicting how long victory will take. But officials are digging in for a long campaign. And it grinds on. At the core of South Viet Nam's anti-communist program is a rural community officials call the strategic hamlet. They feel the strategic hamlet can do what armed divisions alone cannot.

Typically, a strategic hamlet is an orderly grouping of several hundred huts made of bamboo, dried palm fronds and rice thatch. It is surrounded by barbed wire, booby-trapped moats and minefields. Setting up these hamlets during the past year has been given top war priority. The United States alone has spent or earmarked $35 million for the program.

Latest official statistics claim 7,205 strategic hamlets have been completed, in which nearly two-thirds of South Viet Nam's population is now living. The communists call these hamlets "U.S. Diem concentration camps," and claim the Viet Cong guerrillas have destroyed 2,000 of them in the last six months. Vietnamese and American officials call the strategic hamlets the great hope for final victory, and the key to national rehabilitation.

Whenever possible, peasants in the hamlets are being trained and armed to protect themselves against marauding communist units. Two-way radios are being installed to improve warning systems. Hamlet councils have been created which, in principle, give the peasants a measure of democracy.

But most of all, the strategic hamlet program is aimed at tight population control, with a view to keeping loyal citizens segregated from the Viet Cong. All men and women over 18 carry identity cards, with photograph, fingerprints, exact address, occupation and serial number. Movement from one place to another in Viet Nam requires a police visa, and permanent moves required changed identity cards.

Each morning, the strategic hamlet farmer leads his muddy team of water buffalo past gate guards, to whom he must surrender his identity cards. In exchange, he gets a one-day field pass. He must be back inside before the hamlet gate closes for the night. This is to prevent infiltration of Viet Cong agents.

The grand plan calls for organizing stragetic hamlets along all lines of communication, especially roads and canals. The second phase of the plan is to build hamlets in lines crossing the primary communication lines, in a kind of checkerboard pattern. This boxing effect is supposed to cut Viet Cong supply lines and isolate the communists into small units, which theoretically will wither away.

But the program is viewed as spread much too thin in certain "contented areas," and American officials feel there will be reverses in these regions.

★

A particular sore area is the fertile Mekong River delta and the other provinces south of Saigon. The region is vital, partly because it grows most of the nation's produce and partly because it encompasses nearly half the national population. Most of the Viet Cong's hard-core fighting strength is here.

Many-Sided Problem

Problems of strategic hamlet building in the delta are partly geographic. A major proportion of existing hamlets are strung along canals, which lace the whole countryside. These hamlets may be miles long but only one or two houses deep. Another problem is historic. The Saigon government holds out as one of its major blandishments to the peasants a policy of land reform and redistribution. But since the end of French colonial rule in 1954, it has not been possible to bring the policy to completion. This is largely because the Viet Cong has held and administered large areas and has instituted its own land reform policies. Another aspect of the problem is the family and social ties linking the delta with communism for many years.

"In Kien Hoa province, many people are proud that their province has produced some of communist North Viet Nam's top leaders," an informed American said. "Many have relatives in the north. Many look on this war as an extension of the old war against the French, and feel the Viet Cong will lead them to victory."

A Lot Of Nerve

Twenty-three grange state Republican Congressmen have banded together to insist on immediate action on new wheat legislation.

Most of the group busied themselves earlier in the year campaigning against the administration's wheat program and contributed their part to its defeat in a wheat growers referendum. Most of them promised a new and better program.

Well, they were congressmen then. They are congressmen now. It is their privilege to write bills and to make law. Let them do so. And if they could promise a new law earlier, let them now deliver on their promise.

A newspaper in support of them asserted that the group's demand on the administration looked to 1964, election year. That is a pretty bald confession that the group is working on a political problem not a farm problem.

The report also went on to say that some of the group conceded privately that it is too late in the session to expect anything more in the matter of wheat legislation. If this is the case, then why the demand for an impracticability?

By inference a group that will play politics with the wheat problem confronting the planters played politics with it earlier when there was a program. This whole movement seems a little crass. It remains for the planter to draw his conclusions. If he is in a fix, his vote contributed to it. If he listened to political advice and not economic advice, he should also reflect upon that.

Back To The Jungle

Earlier this month Mao Tse-tung addressed a delegation from African countries visiting Pieping. It was couched in the language of communism but the melody was different.

Mao called for a rising of colored races against the white race. He pictured the fascist white man, principally the American, as the thing to be disposed of first. If he had in mind any social or national progress it would have to be afterward.

This is just about the last revelation describing the pathologic attitude of Chinese leadership. First, a war of general extermination from which China would survive, second a determined drive for more land at the expense of the present occupants. Now third the destruction of the white race, if not in terms of death, itself, then in terms of such powerlessness that the white man could no longer make a contribution to human advancement. This is about as primitive and jungle-like as one could imagine. It is difficult to see how China can ever develop into a constructive force when driven by such passion.

Mao overlooks the facts of history. The white man himself is struggling against racism. He has largely quit the field of colonialism. He is assisting as best he can the rise of the underdeveloped people. He represents the western man, not all of whom are white.

If, for a time, the western man ascended to power he did so by fortuitous circumstances which placed advanced instruments in his hand. That he did not always act with justice is a description of his stage of development along the scale of civilization. But the fact that he is willing to share his sophisticated instruments with those who have not yet learned to use them demonstrates his desire to deal equally with all people and all races. We doubt that Mao would ever be so philanthropic.

When In Doubt Punt

Just when the special legislative committee assigned to probe Nebraska's credit finance problem was on the verge of decision, it punted.

Normally, we don't care much for a punt. No one ever scored punting. But, admittedly, there are times when the punt is the wisest choice of alternatives—and, in defense of the committee action, this may well have been one of those times.

No one has yet been able to unscramble the installment sales puzzle. The court has not yet done it. The industry and its attorneys have been unable to do it. Legislators themselves have not done it.

The State Supreme Court has been presented two motions for rehearing in its installment sales decisions which have raised all the issues which still lie in the dark area of uncertainty. Perhaps, when the court has had an opportunity to act on those briefs—very likely this fall—the pieces may fall better into place.

But until the court has acted, and perhaps even after it has acted, much of the decision-making facing the legislative committee is largely a matter of conjecture. That is why punting now to gain a little time and a better field position may well have been the wise move.

Clearly, the lawmakers must consider the desires of two interests. First, they must consider what is best for the public. And that not only means a decision as to fair and just maximum rates of interest and time-sales charges, but also a decision which will not threaten an economy dependent upon credit for its growth.

When Atty. Gen. Clarence Meyer pointed out the possible consequences of a class test suit of the new installment sales act, the committee punted in the interests of both the public and the industry.

Both should be consulted, and the ultimate decision must be made in the interests of both. Clearly, the public interest comes first—but we should not lose sight of the fact that a decision which is fair and just to the industry is also in the public interest.

JFK Draws Line On Harvard Pal

(Editor's note — Drew Pearson has gone abroad to interview world leaders and report on the prospects for peace. The Washington scene is covered by his associate, Jack Anderson.)

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy's friends and relatives, classmates and professors have found success in government since 1961. But at least one Harvard roommate has been given the bum's rush by the Kennedy administration.

He is Langdon P. Marvin, Jr., the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's godson, who briefly roomed with Kennedy at Harvard and was elected "first marshal of the class of 1941."

Marvin came to Washington ahead of Kennedy as a Senate counsel, stayed on to represent the small airlines.

When JFK was elected to Congress, Marvin helped to break him in, later helped to settle him in the Senate. Occasionally, they vacationed together at Hyannis Port, Bar Harbor, and Palm Beach.

In return, Kennedy arranged free office space for Marvin at the Library of Congress.

Then Langdon P. began to get bad publicity. First, several congressmen squawked about his free hangout at the Library of Congress. Then he took a Minneapolis heiress on a 140-mile ride just before her wedding and tried in vain to persuade her to change her plans and marry him.

Marvin campaigned for JFK in 1960. After the election, Marvin's foes in the airline industry wrote to Robert Kennedy in alarm, warning against the appointment of Marvin to high office.

Back came a letter from the President's brother: "I assure you that Langdon Marvin will not be a part of the administration. He will not have a job of any kind and will play no role, directly or indirectly, in the policies of the administration.

☆ ☆ ☆

"Your sentiments regarding Mr. Marvin are exactly in accord with mine, and I assure you that, when I say that Langdon Marvin will have nothing to do with the government for the next four years, I mean what I say."

True to Robert Kennedy's word, all administration doors have been slammed in Marvin's face. The final indignity came the other day when his picture was posted with White House guards as another undesirable who is to be kept out.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Ban Debate Should Dispel Fantasy

WASHINGTON—With the cloak of secrecy kept so tight around the whole complex business of nuclear weapons development, what a lot of senators—and most of the rest of us—do not know is now coming to light.

Myth and fantasy get in the way of facts in the debate over the test-ban treaty. If this is an impediment to ratification, then secrecy—many would say excessive secrecy—is one reason.

In the fantasy line, Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois is a challenging runner-up. Shortly after the treaty was made public he issued a statement saying that the United States might "find itself in the role of a co-partner extending sanction by treaty to the underground development of nuclear warheads by Cuba."

The senator did not say how Cuba would get nuclear warheads. Presumably they would be provided by the Soviet Union for testing in those caves. But since this would almost certainly be detected by the United States, and since it would be a violation of the treaty, we would be free to take retaliatory measures at once.

After 10 years and at least a billion dollars—probably nearer two billion—France has exploded three nuclear devices in the atmosphere in the Sahara proving ground.

Communist China has been in the game for more than 10 years. Up until 1959 or early '60 the Soviets furnished men and material. The cutoff is believed to have slowed the project. The best guess is that some time in the next 12 months the Chinese will set off a crude nuclear device. And that means, as secretary of Defense Robert McNamara said in response to a question about France, that they are "years and years and years" away from anything like the American capability.

☆ ☆ ☆

In preparation for the test-ban debate, earnest soul-searching went on in the White House on lifting, at least in part, the secrecy cloak. Whether in open or closed session before the Senate Foreign Relations committee, the two points to be stressed are:

1. The Soviets have had not more than seven underground tests. Therefore, if they were to set out to catch up with the United States in small nuclear arms by this means, it would take an estimated two years of costly preparation. The United States since 1961 has made 65 underground tests.

2. This country deliberately decided against the massive megaton bomb in the belief that greater accuracy can be achieved with smaller megatonnage. Nevertheless, in the American arsenal are bombs of up to 50 megatons.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Senate hearings can be a useful forum for dispelling some of the mystification that has surrounded the ultimate weapon. The public as well as the Senate is entitled to know, within the bounds of reasonable security, what is fact and what is fantasy. There will be witnesses counting on mystification to serve their ends. The committee should have the facts from official sources as a proper measuring rod for such a tactic.

NATHANIEL BOWDITCH

Profiles In Science

Nathaniel Bowditch, the American mathematician and authority on navigation, is a classic example of the self-educated man. One hears jokes about learning by reading from an encyclopedia from A to Z. Bowditch actually did it.

He was born in Massachusetts in 1773. His father was a poor cooper, or barrel maker, and when Nathaniel was only 10 he had to leave school to work in his father's cooperage. He had shown a great interest and aptitude in mathematics and had enough perseverance to continue to study after being withdrawn from school.

At 13 he was apprenticed to a supplier of ship's stores and stayed with him until he was 21. During these years he mastered algebra without help, learned navigation from a retired sea captain, studied Latin so that he could read Newton's "Principia" and taught himself to read French.

Besides going through an encyclopedia from beginning to end, he did the same thing with the Bible and the complete works of Shakespeare.

When he was 22, Bowditch went to sea, traveling to many of the countries of the world he had previously only read of. He became a ship's master, and his knowledge of navigation brought him a local fame when he sailed his ship into Salem harbor during a storm that had hidden all landmarks. Bowditch guided the ship by dead reckoning after catching a momentary glimpse of an island outside the small harbor.

Bowditch was hired to correct a generally-accepted work on navigation, but because it held so many errors he decided to write a completely new book. This was the famous "American Practical Navigator," published in 1802. It at once became the standard authority in both the United States and England.

Bowditch gave up his seafaring to write a translation and commentary on Pierre Laplace's famous and gigantic work, "Celestial Mechanics."

☆ ☆ ☆

Laplace, the "French Newton," had applied the laws of gravity to the movements of heavenly bodies in the solar system and made it possible to study their orbits and "perturbations" more accurately.

Bowditch's translation and commentary of Laplace was published in four volumes, the fourth not coming out until after his death in 1838.

He insisted upon publishing the monumental work at his own expense and refused the help of men of science and learning in England and America, many of whom asked to be allowed to subscribe.

Bowditch had been offered professorships at Harvard and other schools, which he had refused to continue his Laplace translation. Other honors heaped upon him before his death were membership in the Royal Society of London, the Royal Astronomical Society and the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

PIERRE J. HUSS

Nikita Works Out Succession Plan

NEW YORK — Pushing 70, Nikita Khrushchev shows no relaxation of his grip on political control of the Kremlin and in this turbulent year has skillfully sidestepped or weathered the storms inside and outside Russia that might have swept dictators of his ilk into discard.

Last spring, while host to his bearded Cuban Stooge Fidel Castro, he announced his intention to visit Havana. Past experience has shown that any dictator or head of a totalitarian system must be sure of his position at home before he dares leave for an extended absence abroad. Otherwise he may not have a capital to come back to unless he risks sudden death at the hands of political plotters who usurped his power.

Castro actually surprised cagey observers in the Western hemisphere by boldly going to Moscow and returning to Havana two months later without losing ground or facing plots to oust him. The answer, of course, lies in the presence of nearly 20,000 Soviet troops at that time holding the political fort for him.

On the face of the present situation in Russia and the outside world, Khrushchev without doubt has enough power and control in the Kremlin to sally forth on a communist propaganda tour not only to Cuba but to New York for personal appearances before the autumn session of the UN Assembly. He has much to gain and nothing to lose by such actions, and the chances are he can recoup the prestige he lost in his fist-and shoe-pounding tirades three years ago when he exasperated the Africans and Asians along with most Europeans with his boorish behavior and ultimatums against the late Dag Hammarskjold.

But powerful and firm in the driver's seat as he is, Khrushchev still has to make certain that his back is covered while he is 6,000 miles away from the Kremlin. He took care of that contingency at the plenary meetings in June or the Central Committee of the Communist party by selecting as his heir and "crown prince" Leonid I. Brezhnev — a protege he can trust. Khrushchev extolled the 57-year-old hard-nosed communist to the committee in flower prose, and appointed him to the secretariat, which is the chief executive body of the party. That put the dark, heavy-browed Brezhnev into an array of positions that leave no doubt as to who is supposed to succeed Khrushchev.

Things don't always work out that way, of course, especially in a dog-eat-dog political arena like the Kremlin. Khrushchev evidently has this in mind and gave the selection of Brezhnev considerable thought. As far back as 1959, he told U.S. emissary Averell Harriman that he intends to avoid the fierce struggle which followed in the wake of Stalin's death for controlling power in the Kremlin. The disputes between the factions of Viacheslav Molotov and Georgi Malenkov weakened the Soviet Union in its internal and world position, and undermined Communist parties everywhere.

"I shall not repeat Stalin's mistakes," he told Harriman. "Comrade Stalin did nothing to regulate his succession in good time. We will prepare a smooth transition."

Brezhnev owes his rise to Kremlin peaks solely to Khrushchev, and without a doubt knows that his mentor can break him at any time he so desires. But the new "crown prince" has the reputation of being a shrewd politician and total disciple of Khrushchev's political and economic philosophy. He will know how to cover Nikita's back while the latter is abroad.

In the slippery hierarchy of the Kremlin, it is not wise to put all your eggs in one basket. The elimination of Khrushchev's long-trained successor and friend Frol Kozlov by sudden grave illness demonstrated that the best laid plans go wrong. So Nikita steered the central committee into picking a "second" man in case Brezhnev goes down the drain. The "stand-in" is Nikolai V. Podgorny, a member of the presidium and party chief of the Ukraine. Appointment of this 60-year-old to the secretariat also balanced off the influence exerted by Brezhnev as top man to Khrushchev, and mollified those who felt a little miffed by Khrushchev's selection.

Turncoat: Bad Discharge Undeserved

New York (AP) — Lowell D. Skinner, Korean war turncoat, said Sunday night he did not deserve a dishonorable discharge from the U.S. Army for turning his back on his country.

Skinner, 32, returned to the United States this month after 9 years in Communist China. He appeared in a taped telecast on a program shared with Allen W. Dulles, former head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The tapes were made in separate interviews 3 days apart. The interviewer asked similar questions.

Skinner said it was his decision to go to Communist China; rather than return to the United States after the war. He was dishonorably discharged in 1954.

Captured In 1950

Skinner was captured in the summer of 1950. In China, he married a Chinese girl and became a lathe operator.

The Akron, Ohio, native said his observations of the Chinese Reds convinced him they were not fanatics, as he said he had been told by other Americans.

"I began to notice that communist is communist," he said. "But they are also born on this planet and they're human. They don't come from Mars."

'Tragic Case'

Dulles, commented, "It's a tragic case. The man should have had more strength and courage."

Dulles blamed American schools for not doing more to teach the meaning of communism to young persons before they enter military service.

Skinner, Dulles said, "was unprepared to meet the kind of indoctrination that he received when he was there. I'm not trying to excuse him. There isn't any real excuse, but we're not all strong. We're not all well prepared."

Discounted

Skinner discounted the indoctrination idea. He said that when United Nations negotiators agreed to Korean armistice terms that permitted prisoners of war to refuse repatriation, he interpreted his to mean it was legal for him to go to Red China before eventually going home.

Skinner said he was driven to go to China by a desire to know more about its people and to learn the Chinese language. He said he did not mean to stay indefinitely.

He said he was disappointed at being refused entrance to the University of Peking to study Chinese. He said he decided to return home in 1957 but was thwarted by the illness of his English-speaking wife, a Seventh-day Adventist.

Skinner said he still has hopes of getting his wife, now an invalid, out of Red China.

He asserted, too, that he is prepared to live with any insults or hostility from other Americans who object to his defection.

He said he would write of his reception in this country to other defectors still in China who might be considering returning home.

There were 21 American turncoats in the Korean war.

Turncoat: Bad Discharge Undeserved

New York (AP) — Lowell D. Skinner, Korean war turncoat, said Sunday night he did not deserve a dishonorable discharge from the U.S. Army for turning his back on his country.

Skinner, 32, returned to the United States this month after 9 years in Communist China. He appeared in a taped telecast on a program shared with Allen W. Dulles, former head of the Central Intelligence Agency.

The tapes were made in separate interviews 3 days apart. The interviewer asked similar questions.

Skinner said it was his decision to go to Communist China, rather than return to the United States after the war. He was dishonorably discharged in 1954.

Captured In 1950

Skinner was captured in the summer of 1950. In China, he married a Chinese girl and became a lathe operator.

The Akron, Ohio, native said his observations of the Chinese Reds convinced him they were not fanatics, as he said he had been told by other Americans.

"I began to notice that communist is communist," he said. "But they are also born on this planet and they're human. They don't come from Mars."

'Tragic Case'

Dulles, commented, "It's a tragic case. The man should have had more strength and courage."

Dulles blamed American schools for not doing more to teach the meaning of communism to young persons before they enter military service.

Skinner, Dulles said, "was unprepared to meet the kind of indoctrination that he received when he was there. I'm not trying to excuse him. There isn't any real excuse, but we're not all strong, We're not all well prepared."

Discounted

Skinner discounted the indoctrination idea. He said that when United Nations negotiators agreed to Korean armistice terms that permitted prisoners of war to refuse repatriation, he interpreted his to mean it was legal for him to go to Red China before eventually going home.

Skinner said he was driven to go to China by a desire to know more about its people and to learn the Chinese language. He said he did not mean to stay indefinitely.

He said he was disappointed at being refused entrance to the University of Peking to study Chinese. He said he decided to return home in 1957 but was thwarted by the illness of his English-speaking wife, a Seventh-day Adventist.

Skinner said he still has hopes of getting his wife, now an invalid, out of Red China.

He asserted, too, that he is prepared to live with any insults or hostility from other Americans who object to his defection.

He said he would write of his reception in this country to other defectors still in China who might be considering returning home.

There were 21 American turncoats in the Korean war.

Petite, Tough Mrs. Nhu 'Dragon Lady' Of Viet Nam

By The Associated Press

She is a rebel who turned from her parents and their religion and married power, styling the robes of authority to fit her petite form.

She looks like a playful kitten until you notice the jut of her jaw and watch how she handles a pistol.

She hates communism and battles Buddhists because she says they are peddling the communist line and using their temples to breed revolution against the government of Viet Nam.

She is Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, sister-in-law of the bachelor president of Viet Nam and officially his first lady.

This is the woman who variously has been called Queen Bee, the Dragon Lady, Viet Nam's Joan of Arc and Lucretia Borgia.

As salty and uninhibited in her castigation of the Buddhists as she was in getting dancing outlawed even in the U.S. embassy in Saigon, she says that the fiery sacrifices of Buddhist monks and nuns who burned themselves alive are "monk barbecue shows" perpetrated by what she calls a religious cult that makes a farce of religion to hide its political machinations.

This is the power behind the throne in Viet Nam that Henry Cabot Lodge, the new U.S. ambassador now enroute to that country, must deal with in making effective the joint Southeast Asia.

Part of her power stems from the fact that she married Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem and No. 2 man in the country as head of the secret police.

Part stems from the women's rights campaign she has waged since 1957 building up, meanwhile, an auxiliary army of women military officers trained in using weapons and a civilian army of women welfare workers numbering more than 1.2 million and serving as a political tipster network.

Not Ashamed

She is not ashamed of her denunciations from the time two decades ago at the age of 17 when she told her aristocratic Buddhist mother, "If you don't talk with logic . . . I shall ignore you." Her mother was a member of the former royal family, her father an intellectual who was descended from an old Mandarin family.

Now Mrs. Nhu has told Marguerite Higgins of The New York Herald Tribune in an interview that her use of the word barbecue in connection with the monks' sacrifices was deliberate because it had "shock value."

She was quoted by Miss Higgins as saying "it is necessary somehow to shock the world out of this trance in which it looks at Viet Nam with utterly false vision about religious persecution which does not exist."

'Mad Spell'

In like vein she wrote a tart letter to The New York Times last week demanding, "what else is there to say when the world, under a mad spell about the so-called Buddhist affair . . . needs an electro-shock to resume its senses and come better to understand the reality of the situation?"

She added unkind words for her mother, who has been shunted out of the country to serve with the Viet Nam delegation at the United Nations.

Miss Higgins quoted Mrs. Nhu as saying her mother "is a fanatic, although she does not know any more about it than a 5-year-old child."

Of her father, Tran Van Chuong, who was farmed out to Washington as ambassador to the United States and who protested Mrs. Nhu's "barbecue" characterization, Mrs. Nhu said, "he is a coward."

The New York Times editorially remonstrated with Mrs. Nhu's assertion she would clap hands if the bonzes — Buddhist priests — were beaten 10 times more and killed themselves. Her answer was that "if one has no courage to denounce, if one bows to madness and stupidity, how can one ever hope to cope with other wrongs of humanity exploited in the same fashion by communists?"

Blunt Language

It was in terms as blunt as this that she told Associated Press writer Malcolm W. Browne two years ago: "The communists look for confusion to make gains. They are like the doll Soviet Premier Khrushchev gave to Caroline Kennedy. You push it down but when you take your hand away, it pops up again. Confusion of line is common in U.S. policy."

Roman Catholic by conversion after she married Nhu, she even deprecated the peace-on-earth encyclical of the late Pope John XXIII that called for more social welfare.

She said of it, "He pleases everyone with this encyclical. But if something pleases everyone, it can be exploited."

She makes plain her impatience with any suggestion by President Diem that he would yield to some Buddhist demands for more liberal property rights and a freer hand for the Buddhist religious organization.

And Paris-educated Mrs. Nhu speaks in 3 languages: Vietnamese, French and English.

When she started her campaign against prostitution, boxing, contraceptives and dancing "no matter where it is practiced," she got outcries from the more than 7,000 Americans then in Viet Nam. She said dancing must be barred not only at the U.S. embassy but also at private apartments of embassy personnel.

Not To Dance

Bitingly, she said "foreigners come here not to dance but to help Vietnamese fight communism. Dancing with death is sufficient."

In another bitter statement about U.S. foreign policy last year she said, "Americans must have faith in the cause of the free world . . . and the will to win. We gave up Laos, we gave up East Berlin, we gave up North Korea, we gave up China. We give up."

And she had a word of warning for Lodge, who stems from a New England aristocracy.

In an interview with David Halberstam of The New York Times she said, "If he is a good American, he will do as well as Nolting (Frederick E. Nolting, Jr., whom Lodge succeeds). We shall see. He has his own nature which is very stubborn. If there is stubbornness with us, we shall publish everything and tell all the differences."

'Reds' Withdrawal From Ban Would Be On 90 Day Notice'

Washington (UPI) — Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman predicted Sunday that if the Russians were to withdraw from the limited nuclear test ban treaty they would do so in "an orderly way" by giving 90 days' notice.

Commenting on Senate criticism of Russia's reputation as a treaty breaker, Harriman said he doubted the Soviets would resume prohibited nuclear testing suddenly without giving notice.

The treaty now before the Senate stipulates that signing nations must give 3 months' notice if they intend to withdraw from the agreement.

Wants Good Will

Harriman, who negotiated the treaty for the United States, said in an interview (Issues and Answers—ABC) that Russia would not want to lose the good will of the nearly 60 nations who have signed the treaty.

There have been increasing Senate demands that the United States be prepared to resume atmospheric, space and underwater testing immediately if Russia broke the treaty without warning.

Members of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who will testify as a group Monday when hearings resume in the Senate, are said to support such preparations.

Harriman said, however, that Russia will honor the treaty because it is to their advantage.

He said Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev wanted the treaty to reduce Soviet military expenditures, to prove to the world that Russia is against nuclear war and to isolate Communist China in its opposition to "peaceful co-existence."

"Only purely ignorant people," Harriman said, believe that the test ban and the split between Moscow and Peking is a trap for the West.

Ex-Premier Released, Repeats Criticism Of Korea's Regime

Seoul, Korea (AP) — Ex-premier Yo-Chan (Tiger) Song went into seclusion Sunday after his release from prison, still critical of South Korea's military rule.

An aide said Song was confined to bed for a rest in his Seoul home by a physician who examined him after the South Korean Central Intelligence Agency released him late Saturday night.

Upon leaving Mapo prison, Song reiterated the criticism that many Koreans feel led to his arrest on Aug. 11.

"I am still of the belief," he said, "that Supreme Council Chairman Gen. Chung Hee Park should not run for the presidency in the forthcoming election."

The military regime of strongman Park denied that this criticism, which Song published in an open letter, was the reason for his arrest. Song was arrested, officials said, on charges he ordered the execution of an army officer in 1950, and instigated the killing of student demonstrators in 1960.

Song, 47, was released pending trial. No date has been announced.

Meanwhile, Park announced he will retire from the army Aug. 30 in a long-expected move to prepare himself as a candidate for the October presidential election.

The civilian opponents of military rule, who have yet to pick a candidate, have been demanding that Park refrain from politics and return power to civilian hands as he once promised.

Arrests In Bombay Strike Reach 800

Bombay, India (AP)—Arrests in Bombay's 8-day strike by municipal workers climbed to more than 800 Sunday. The city's 17,000 taxi drivers meanwhile left their jobs in sympathy with the government workers.

The 30,000 municipal workers are striking for a 25% increase in the cost of living allowance.

About 18,000 bus and tram workers walked off their jobs in the sympathy strike.

Injuries Fatal To One, 4 More Hurt In 2-Car Accident

Fremont (AP) — One person was injured fatally and 4 others hurt in a two-car crash at a county road intersection 6 miles north and 4 miles west of North Bend Sunday.

Dodge County Attorney Richard Kuhlman identified the victim as 81-year-old Joe Powers of Scribner, a retired farmer.

Injured and hospitalized were Jerry Powers, 80, of North Bend; Robert Ritter, 20, of Dodge, William Pateidl, 49, of Omaha, and James Tichota, 18, of Fremont.

Involved in the accident, but escaping injury were Richard Parr, 19, of Dodge; William Langhorst, 19, of Dodge; Jim Pateidl, 18, of Omaha, and Steve Schumacher of Omaha.

The younger Powers, Ritter and William Pateidl were hospitalized at Fremont, and Tichota was taken to a West Point hospital.

Kuhlman identified the drivers of the cars involved as Parr and Pateidl. The Omahans were riding with Pateidl along with the Powers brothers. The others were with Parr.

The death raised the Nebraska highway fatality toll for the year to 197, compared with 218 a year ago.

Enoch L. Martinson, 44, of Wakefield, died Saturday of injuries he suffered in a two-car collision Aug. 13th about 9 miles west of Ponca.

Youth Who Made Threat With Gun Is Being Sought

Police Sunday night were looking for a Lincoln youth who reportedly threatened Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis, of 129 No. 12th, with a pistol early that morning.

Police reports said the assault occurred near the intersection of 12th and O, after the Lewis' car was followed by a group of juveniles in another vehicle.

One of the juveniles reportedly approached the Lewis car with an automatic pistol, but fled when Mrs. Lewis shouted.

When Pigskins Fly, So Do Nebraska Patrolmen

It's Cornhusker football time and a car speeds down the highway, moving in and out of the unusually heavy traffic.

The driver has tickets on the 50-yard line at Memorial Stadium and he's in a hurry to be there for the kickoff.

But suddenly a Safety Patrol trooper steps from a cruiser parked by the road, flags him down and starts to write a ticket for speeding.

The driver's reaction: "How did you know I was speeding?" The trooper will probably point to a light plane circling overhead and tell the puzzled driver he has been clocked from the air.

Nothing New

This fall the State Patrol will again use a light plane to spot speeders in the Lincoln area on football Saturdays, Col. Dan J. Casey, patrol chief, said.

But it's nothing new. The patrol started using planes 15 years ago to help handle the football crowds. Helicopters have also been used to patrol congested intersections.

Casey described the procedure used in clocking speeders by plane this way:

Troopers Bill Teachman of Omaha and Fay Robeson of Fremont are the spotters. They are equipped with a walkie-talkie and can contact all patrol cruisers in the area.

Flies At 500 Feet

The plane flies at 500 feet or more above the ground and covers all highways leading into Lincoln.

The troopers, Casey said, get a bird's-eye view of the traffic. He said it isn't hard to spot speeders.

The flying troopers clock speeding cars against measured miles on the ground, using a stop watch.

When a clocking is obtained, a description of the speeding auto is radioed to a ground cruiser. The plane passes overhead while the trooper on the ground makes the arrest.

Surprised

Casey said drivers are usually surprised to find they have been clocked from the air.

The reason for the plane patrol is that traffic becomes congested in the Lincoln area on football Saturdays and troopers on patrol cannot move as well through the congestion, Casey said. The plane offsets the disadvantages, he added.

Also any accidents which might occur are more easily spotted from the air, Casey said.

Ex-Premier Released, Repeats Criticism Of Korea's Regime

Seoul, Korea (AP) — Ex-premier Yo-Chan (Tiger) Song went into seclusion Sunday after his release from prison, still critical of South Korea's military rule.

An aide said Song was confined to bed for a rest in his Seoul home by a physician who examined him after the South Korean Central Intelligence Agency released him late Saturday night.

Upon leaving Mapo prison, Song reiterated the criticism that many Koreans feel led to his arrest on Aug. 11.

"I am still of the belief," he said, "that Supreme Council Chairman Gen. Chung Hee Park should not run for the presidency in the forthcoming election."

The military regime of strongman Park denied that this criticism, which Song published in an open letter, was the reason for his arrest. Song was arrested, officials said, on charges he ordered the execution of an army officer in 1950, and instigated the killing of student demonstrators in 1960.

Song, 47, was released pending trial. No date has been announced.

Meanwhile, Park announced he will retire from the army Aug. 30 in a long-expected move to prepare himself as a candidate for the October presidential election.

The civilian opponents of military rule, who have yet to pick a candidate, have been demanding that Park refrain from politics and return power to civilian hands as he once promised.

Arrests In Bombay Strike Reach 800

Bombay, India (AP)—Arrests in Bombay's 8-day strike by municipal workers climbed to more than 800 Sunday. The city's 17,000 taxi drivers meanwhile left their jobs in sympathy with the government workers.

The 30,000 municipal workers are striking for a 25% increase in the cost of living allowance.

About 18,000 bus and tram workers walked off their jobs in the sympathy strike.

Injuries Fatal To One, 4 More Hurt In 2-Car Accident

Fremont (AP) — One person was injured fatally and 4 others hurt in a two-car crash at a county road intersection 6 miles north and 4 miles west of North Bend Sunday.

Dodge County Attorney Richard Kuhlman identified the victim as 81-year-old Joe Powers of Scribner, a retired farmer.

Injured and hospitalized were Jerry Powers, 80, of North Bend; Robert Ritter, 20, of Dodge, William Pateidl, 49, of Omaha, and James Tichota, 18, of Fremont.

Involved in the accident, but escaping injury were Richard Parr, 19, of Dodge; William Langhorst, 19, of Dodge; Jim Pateidl, 18, of Omaha, and Steve Schumacher of Omaha.

The younger Powers, Ritter and William Pateidl were hospitalized at Fremont, and Tichota was taken to a West Point hospital.

Kuhlman identified the drivers of the cars involved as Parr and Pateidl. The Omahans were riding with Pateidl along with the Powers brothers. The others were with Parr.

The death raised the Nebraska highway fatality toll for the year to 197, compared with 218 a year ago.

Enoch L. Martinson, 44, of Wakefield, died Saturday of injuries he suffered in a two-car collision Aug. 13th about 9 miles west of Ponca.

Youth Who Made Threat With Gun Is Being Sought

Police Sunday night were looking for a Lincoln youth who reportedly threatened Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lewis, of 129 No. 12th, with a pistol early that morning.

Police reports said the assault occurred near the intersection of 12th and O, after the Lewis' car was followed by a group of juveniles in another vehicle.

One of the juveniles reportedly approached the Lewis car with an automatic pistol, but fled when Mrs. Lewis shouted.

When Pigskins Fly, So Do Nebraska Patrolmen

It's Cornhusker football time and a car speeds down the highway, moving in and out of the unusually heavy traffic.

The driver has tickets on the 50-yard line at Memorial Stadium and he's in a hurry to be there for the kickoff.

But suddenly a Safety Patrol trooper steps from a cruiser parked by the road, flags him down and starts to write a ticket for speeding.

The driver's reaction: "How did you know I was speeding?" The trooper will probably point to a light plane circling overhead and tell the puzzled driver he has been clocked from the air.

Nothing New

This fall the State Patrol will again use a light plane to spot speeders in the Lincoln area on football Saturdays, Col. Dan J. Casey, patrol chief, said.

But it's nothing new. The patrol started using planes 15 years ago to help handle the football crowds. Helicopters have also been used to patrol congested intersections.

Casey described the procedure used in clocking speeders by plane this way:

Troopers Bill Teachman of Omaha and Fay Robeson of Fremont are the spotters. They are equipped with a walkie-talkie and can contact all patrol cruisers in the area.

Flies At 500 Feet

The plane flies at 500 feet or more above the ground and covers all highways leading into Lincoln.

The troopers, Casey said, get a bird's-eye view of the traffic. He said it isn't hard to spot speeders.

The flying troopers clock speeding cars against measured miles on the ground, using a stop watch.

When a clocking is obtained, a description of the speeding auto is radioed to a ground cruiser. The plane passes overhead while the trooper on the ground makes the arrest.

Surprised

Casey said drivers are usually surprised to find they have been clocked from the air.

The reason for the plane patrol is that traffic becomes congested in the Lincoln area on football Saturdays and troopers on patrol cannot move as well through the congestion, Casey said. The plane offsets the disadvantages, he added.

Also any accidents which might occur are more easily spotted from the air, Casey said.

Hurricane Arlene started off like a strip-teaser. She flung off black lace clouds while a drum beat of rain boomed down on the treasure islands of the Caribbean.

An occasional spotlight of moon beamed on the white surg. The radio gave hurricane instructions: "Board up windows when instructed. Listen to the radio. Keep candles and emergency lighting handy."

☆ ☆ ☆

It was very exciting at Dorado Beach in Puerto Rico. (The hurricane was the first of the season. For identification, they are given girls' names in alphabetical order. "A" or Arlene is number one.)

The hurricane was a comfortable couple of hundred miles away. It was moving at about 14 miles an hour. All we were getting was a little trimming.

Army planes were auditioning Arlene. She was blowing 100 miles an hour.

At this luxury resort, the luxurious visitors gave up their golf as torrents of rain lashed the coco palms. (Coco palms are supposed to lean into the prevailing wind. But if you look at a grove, there is always a non-conformist.)

☆ ☆ ☆

The veteran Caribbean travelers took hurricane cover in the air-conditioned bar. They told wild stories of hurricanes that almost got them.

With every belt of squareface, their winds got stronger. Their escapes got closer. It was a wonder any of them were there to tell the tale.

All the ladies went down to their rooms and got the drying bathing suits off the front porches. They cancelled their hair appointments—mostly on the assumption that the winds would blow out the curl anyway.

They said: "The maid told me this morning that you can tell when a hurricane is coming because the dampness takes all the curl out."

They said: "The boy who turns down the bed says if it hits here, the army will make us all go to the hills."

And in the bar, the men said: "I was here in 1938—or was it '39? Anyway, this board came sailing through the air and missed me by inches! No need to worry, though, if you know how to take cover."

I wouldn't have missed it for anything.

☆ ☆ ☆

By next morning, Arlene blew herself out. It was a terrible let-down for everybody.

Arlene just disintegrated. That's the teasing part about strip-teasers. They vanish behind a curtain and toss out a G-string.

The sun came out on a deep-blue sea, foaming like TV soapsuds where it washes over the gray off-shore rocks. The wind died down and began blowing gently from the northeast, the steady trade wind that cools the island.

Anyway, it was near miss. And as the years go by—(and I tell the story)—it will get nearer and nearer and nearer.

One thing I learned while Arlene was on stage: I learned how to tell a hurricane story.

A day or two later—(after the hurricane almost got me I must tell you about that sometime)—all the Puerto Rico bus and taxi drivers went on strike.

They struck for various things. Mostly, I gathered, because they had contracts to take kids to school. The children rode for half price. And when the driver saw a full-price fare, he took that.

The parents got mad and bought school buses.

Now the tourists were grounded. This is technically off-season. But smart travelers have discovered off-season prices are half the winter rates. And the temperatures are only about five degrees higher.

☆ ☆ ☆

The golfers were OK. They had a 27-hole, tailored course right beside them. They had a stable of golf cars they drove themselves.

Everybody else said: "I was waiting until today to do my shopping in San Juan. Now what will I do?" The hotel ran a chartered fleet of small airplanes into the city.

In the midst of all this, I got a letter from a friend in New York. He said: "What are you doing in Puerto Rico? There's nothing doing at this time of year, is there?"

It took me 3 pages and two 8-cent stamps to answer.

Murder Charged Of Man Reported Dead Since 1918

Falmouth, England (AP) — Two men were charged Sunday with killing a man who had been reported dead since 1918.

Police identified them as Tussell Pascoe, 33, and Dennis John Whitty, 22. They are charged with murder and will appear in court Monday.

The victim was William Garfield Rowe, a 64-year-old recluse found battered to death at a lonely farm last Wednesday.

To all but his father, mother and two brothers, Rowe died in 1918. His family spread the story that he was killed in World War I to cover up the fact that he was an Army deserter in hiding. After the war the pretense was continued.

Police gave no hint as to the motive for the slaying.

Ceremonies Solemnized On Sunday

KOLAR-ORTON

Clusters of lighted cathedral candles appointed the chancel of Westminster Presbyterian Church on Sunday evening, Aug. 18, for the marriage of Miss Marlene Ann Kolar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kolar of Dwight, to William Thomas Orton, son of Mrs. Willa Orton of San Francisco, and of William S. Orton of Sausalito, Calif. The 5:30 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Dale Holt.

Floor-length frocks of delustered satin in the willow green shade were chosen for the attendants, Miss Cletas Kolar of Dwight, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Sandra Moore of Seward.

Serving as best man was James Sorrell of Syracuse, and seating the guests were Jim Sorrell, Tecumseh; and Jerry Eddy, Lincoln.

Sculptured, floral appliques of Alencon lace and silk tufts patterned the bride's gown of peau de soie in the antique ivory tone. The molded bodice was designed with a rounded neckline and elbow sleeves, and the Elizabethan skirt was draped into back fullness and continued into a cotillion train. Her bouffant illusion veil was held by a pillbox cap of the silk, and she carried a crescent of Mignonette roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Orton will make their home in Syracuse, where the bride, a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University and a member of Willard sorority, will teach in the Syracuse school. Mr. Orton is a student at the University of Nebraska and a member of Phi Eta Sigma honorary.

ZEILINGER-ARON

At a candlelight service solemnized Sunday evening, Aug. 18, Miss Ann Lucille Zeilinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Zeilinger of David City, became the bride of Thomas J. Aron, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Aron of Crete. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Jacol Balzer of Lincoln, at the Congregational Church in David City.

Wearing bouffant frocks of maize-toned organza over taffeta were Miss Jane Zeilinger as the maid of honor; Miss Viola Sisel, David City, the bridesmaid; and the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Jerome Howe, Mitchell, S.D., and Mrs. William Von Seggern, Wahoo.

Charles E. Aron of Crete served as best man, and seating the guests were Dennis Haaland, Cottonwood, Minn.; David Meerse, Urbana, Ill.; J. Fred Hanson, McCook; Stephen Stasney, Milligan; Robert Sabata, David City; Douglas Hokenstad and William Peters, Lincoln.

The bride chose an Empire gown of white organza over taffeta. Medallion appliques of Venise lace edged the rounded neckline and cuffed the elbow sleeves of the basque, and the lace motiff was repeated in the trim of the wide skirt, which was caught into back fullness and extended into a train. Her draped veil of illusion was held by a miniature toque of jeweled satin, and she carried a pinnacle arrangement of yellow roses and ivy centered with an orchid.

The couple will live in Boulder, Colo., where Mr. Aron will continue his law studies at the University of Colorado. A graduate of Doane College, Crete, he has attended the University of Nebraska College of Law. A June graduate of the University of Nebraska, where she is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi, Mrs. Aron will teach in the Boulder Schools.

JUKER-FREDRICKSON

The wedding of Miss Peggy Juker; daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest D. Wood of Broken Bow, and Gerald K. Fredrickson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll M. Fredrickson, took place Sunday afternoon, Aug. 18, at the First Methodist Church in Broken Bow. The ceremony was solemnized by the Rev. Frank Kirtley.

Wearing frocks of ice-blue polished cotton were Mrs. Paul E. Collicott of Omaha, the matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Carol Cramer, Bellevue, and Mrs. David Gair, Omaha.

Robert A. Fredrickson served as best man, and the ushers were Paul E. Collicott, Omaha; Gary Scritsmier, Lincoln; Daniel Rockwell, Broken Bow; and James Cramer, Bellevue.

White silk taffeta fashioned the bride's gown. Re-embroidered lace in a floral motif, traced with pearls, appliqued the front of the snug bodice, which was designed with a jewel throatline and bracelet sleeves, and the widely-flaring skirt was complemented by a detachable train extending to chapel length. Her illusion veil was held by a coronet of pearl and organza petals, and she carried a cascade of white chrysanthemums.

Mr. and Mrs. Fredrickson will reside at Coralville, Iowa. A former student at the University of Nebraska, the bride is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority. Mr. Fredrickson, a June graduate of the University of Nebraska and a member of Kappa Sigma, will take graduate study in hospital administration at the University of Iowa, Iowa City.

Orton of Sausalito, Calif. The 5:30 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Dale Holt.

Serving as best man was James Sorrell of Syracuse, and seating the guests were Jim Sorrell, Tecumseh; and Jerry Eddy, Lincoln.

Sculptured, floral appliques of Alencon lace and silk tufts patterned the bride's gown of peau de soie in the antique ivory tone. The molded bodice was designed with a rounded neckline and elbow sleeves, and the Elizabethan skirt was draped into back fullness and continued into a cotillion train. Her bouffant illusion veil was held by a pillbox cap of the silk, and she carried a crescent of Mignonette roses.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

EASTRIDGE

Good morning, Suburbia! Here it is — Monday, the beginning of a bright new week for busy Suburban residents. This, indeed, is a very busy neighborhood with all the comings and goings that seem to be taking place with everyone either departing or returning from vacations.

These last few days and nights of cooler temperatures very definitely have caused a traveling mood in many Suburban dwellers, as you will soon see.

Departing Lincoln last Saturday morning were Mr. and Mrs. William Zeitz and their three sons, Bill, Curt and David, who left for a week's vacation in Illinois, visiting relatives.

First on the list of many stops for the Zeitz family will be Antioch, Ill., where the travelers will be the guests of Mr. Zeitz's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Vos. From Antioch, they will motor to North Brook, a suburb of Chicago, to visit with Mrs. Zeitz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Gavin. The last stopping point will be Evanston, where they will spend several days with Mr. Zeitz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Otto Zeitz.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeitz will return home from their busy week on Sunday.

Not everyone is leaving the neighborhood, however, as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mercer have just returned home from a fishing, boating and swimming holiday in Minnesota.

The point of destination for Mr. and Mrs. Mercer and their children, Pam, Candy, Tim, Bon and Bobby, was Brainard, where they spent eight days basking in the sun and just relaxing.

More Eastridge residents who returned to the neighborhood last week are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dickeson and their three children, Deirdra, Douglas, and Denise.

The Dickeson family motored for ten days through the eastern part of the United States making special stops in Washington, D.C., New York City and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickeson and their family returned from their sightseeing vacation on Tuesday of last week.

Judge and Mrs. Leslie Boslaugh and their daughters, Marguerite and Sarah, are now at home from a combined business and pleasure trip which took them to the windy city of Chicago.

While Judge Boslaugh attended the Bar Association meetings, Mrs. Boslaugh and the children went sightseeing which included "every zoo" in the Chicago area.

The foursome returned to Eastridge last Thursday evening.

Vacations may interrupt some forms of entertainment —but never birthday parties.

Miss Corrine Knodle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knodle, celebrated her ninth anniversary last Saturday when she entertained several of her friends at a "blue jeans" party.

The guests, Margaret Garner, Marguerite Boslaugh, Pam Fenstra, Susan Smiley, Joann Cochran, Diane Bradley, and Corrine's brother, Jackie, spent the afternoon hours at Pioneers Park on a treasure hunt. Helping with the event were Patrice and Lynn Graham.

The birthday celebrants then returned to the Knodle
Motoring to Omaha last weekend were Mr. and Mrs.
home for a luncheon.

CLIFFORD PLACE

Motoring to Omaha last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fitzwater and their daughter, Pam, and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Walker and their children, Tish and Mike, who spent the weekend celebrating Mrs. Firzwater's birthday and the wedding anniversary of Omaha friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burkland.

The two Lincoln families spent Saturday evening at the Town House, and were accompanied to the Sunday matinee showing of Cinerama by Mr. and Mrs. Burkland and their son, Brad.

EASTMONT

Entertaining members of their monthly bridge club last Friday evening were Eastmont residents, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Larson.

The evening guests for bridge and a midnight lunch were Mr. and Mrs. Don Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Marlo Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Heldtbrink, and Mr. and Mrs. William Splichal.

Honored

The former Miss Loy Lyn Wright, daughter of Mrs. M. Garrison Wright, and Lt. John F. Hindman, whose wedding was an event of Saturday, Aug. 17, at Westminster Presbyterian Church, were honored on Friday evening at a family dinner held at Hillcrest Country Club.

Dinner guests were members of the bridal party and family, including Lt. Hindman's mother, Mrs. Ralph E. Hindman of Sioux City, Iowa.

Dear Abby

Building Bridges Is Better

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to make a comment on that letter signed "A BUDDY'S BUDDY." My boy friend was stationed in Germany for two years. We were engaged before he went away. After dating other fellows, I sent my fiance a "Dear John" letter—only it was a "Dear Ralph." I don't agree with Buddy. My promise was made in goo faith. But promises are made to be broken, and I don't think it is right to string a guy along until he gets home.

Sincerely,
DEE

DEAR DEE: Who said "promises are made to be broken?" Not in my book! And what kind of an "engagement" is it that permits the lady to date others? I still say if a girl has a change of heart when her fiance is away in the service of his country, she should wait until he comes home to hit him with the news.

DEAR ABBY: As a young father, married two years, I hope you'll print my gripe to show what a MAN thinks for once. I am struggling to pay rent, feed my family and keep up on my car expenses, plus a lot of incidental bills. We live 200 miles from my wife's relatives and are invited to every shower, birthday, wedding, anniversary and party they have. I can't make my wife understand that it takes gas, oil and tires to drive 400 miles every weekend, plus being expected to bring a gift. She refuses to realize this.

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: If young people spend as they go—they won't go far. Show your wife what a BUDGET looks like. And tell her how many 400-mile trips per year you can afford. Then let her pick the "occasions." When a husband lays down the law for valid reasons, his wife can only respect him for it.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: This is regarding that woman whose husband was unfaithful and then came crawling back to his wife with promises to "make it up to her." She asked you if she should let her husband share her bedroom again, and you replied with one word, "Yes." Are you crazy or something? Why should the wife take him back? I'd let him sleep out in the doghouse like the dirty dog that he is

PROUD

DEAR PROUD: And then what would you have? A husband who's provided with an excuse to behave like a dog because he's treated like one. Don't build fences where you can build bridges.

The bidding:

Opening lead — nine of diamonds.

I rather like this story told by the Dutch expert, Herman Filarski. He was playing in a tournament in Holland back in 1935 when this hand came up. His partner was a good player and their opponents were rather mediocre.

Filarski (North) opened with a diamond and the bidding then progressed to six hearts in the manner shown. The sequence was quite different from what it would be today, but the contract reached was certainly a good one.

West led the nine of diamonds and South had to decide how to play the hand. After a considerable huddle he decided not to finesse and went up with the ace. He reasoned that the nine might be a singleton, in which case, if he finessed, East would take the king and return a diamond to defeat the contract immediately.

He also felt that the finesse could not possibly win, since West was not the type of player who would lead from a king against a slam, and more so, since West had no way of knowing whether the ace would show up in dummy's hand or declarer's.

South's judgment was clearly vindicated when the ace caught the king. Declarer now led the jack of hearts and went up with the ace when East followed low. This play was entirely a matter of self-preservation, since South could not afford to finesse because of the danger that West might have the king, in which case a diamond return would defeat the contract.

Again South was rewarded when the ace caught the king, and the outcome was that declarer, after playing two tricks and catching two singleton kings, was able to claim the balance.

Filarski was of course pleased by his partner's performance — spearing two kings on two tricks in a slam contract — but the opponents viewed the feat with suspicion. On the next deal they held their cards much closer to the chest.

These last few days and nights of cooler temperatures very definitely have caused a traveling mood in many Suburban dwellers, as you will soon see.

Departing Lincoln last Saturday morning were Mr. and Mrs. William Zeitz and their three sons, Bill, Curt and David, who left for a week's vacation in Illinois, visiting relatives.

First on the list of many stops for the Zeitz family will be Antioch, Ill., where the travelers will be the guests of Mr. Zeitz's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Vos. From Antioch, they will motor to North Brook, a suburb of Chicago, to visit with Mrs. Zeitz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Gavin. The last stopping point will be Evanston, where they will spend several days with Mr. Zeitz's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Otto Zeitz.

Mr. and Mrs. Zeitz will return home from their busy week on Sunday.

Not everyone is leaving the neighborhood, however, as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mercer have just returned home from a fishing, boating and swimming holiday in Minnesota.

The point of destination for Mr. and Mrs. Mercer and their children, Pam, Candy, Tim, Bon and Bobby, was Brainard, where they spent eight days basking in the sun and just relaxing.

More Eastridge residents who returned to the neighborhood last week are Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dickeson and their three children, Deirdra, Douglas, and Denise.

The Dickeson family motored for ten days through the eastern part of the United States making special stops in Washington, D.C., New York City and Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Dickeson and their family returned from their sightseting vacation on Tuesday of last week.

Judge and Mrs. Leslie Boslaugh and their daughters, Marguerite and Sarah, are now at home from a combined business and pleasure trip which took them to the windy city of Chicago.

While Judge Boslaugh attended the Bar Association meetings, Mrs. Boslaugh and the children went sightseeing which included "every zoo" in the Chicago area.

The foursome returned to Eastridge last Thursday evening.

Vacations may interrupt some forms of entertainment —but never birthday parties.

Miss Corrine Knodle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Knodle, celebrated her ninth anniversary last Saturday when she entertained several of her friends at a "blue jeans" party.

The guests, Margaret Garner, Marguerite Boslaugh, Pam Fenstra, Susan Smiley, Joann Cochran, Diane Bradley, and Corrine's brother, Jackie, spent the afternoon hours at Pioneers Park on a treasure hunt. Helping with the event were Patrice and Lynn Graham.

The birthday celebrants then returned to the Knodle
Motoring to Omaha last weekend were Mr. and Mrs.
home for a luncheon.

CLIFFORD PLACE

Motoring to Omaha last weekend were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fitzwater and their daughter, Pam, and Mr. and Mrs. Vern Walker and their children, Tish and Mike, who spent the weekend celebrating Mrs. Firzwater's birthday and the wedding anniversary of Omaha friends, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burkland.

The two Lincoln families spent Saturday evening at the Town House, and were accompanied to the Sunday matinee showing of Cinerama by Mr. and Mrs. Burkland and their son, Brad.

EASTMONT

Entertaining members of their monthly bridge club last Friday evening were Eastmont residents, Mr. and Mrs. Duane Larson.

The evening guests for bridge and a midnight lunch were Mr. and Mrs. Don Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Rose, Mr. and Mrs. Marlo Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Heidtbrink, and Mr. and Mrs. William Splichal.

Honored

The former Miss Loy Lyn Wright, daughter of Mrs. M. Garrison Wright, and Lt. John F. Hindman, whose wedding was an event of Saturday, Aug. 17, at Westminster Presbyterian Church, were honored on Friday evening at a family dinner held at Hillcrest Country Club.

Dinner guests were members of the bridal party and family, including Lt. Hindman's mother, Mrs. Ralph E. Hindman of Sioux City, Iowa.

Dear Abby

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to make a comment on that letter signed "A BUDDY'S BUDDY." My boy friend was stationed in Germany for two years. We were engaged before he went away. After dating other fellows, I sent my fiance a "Dear John" letter—only it was a "Dear Ralph." I don't agree with Buddy. My promise was made in goo faith. But promises are made to be broken, and I don't think it is right to string a guy along until he gets home.

Sincerely,
DEE

DEAR DEE: Who said "promises are made to be broken?" Not in my book! And what kind of an "engagement" is it that permits the lady to date others? I still say if a girl has a change of heart when her fiance is away in the service of his country, she should wait until he comes home to hit him with the news.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: As a young father, married two years, I hope you'll print my gripe to show what a MAN thinks for once. I am struggling to pay rent, feed my family and keep up on my car expenses, plus a lot of incidental bills. We live 200 miles from my wife's relatives and are invited to every shower, birthday, wedding, anniversary and party they have. I can't make my wife understand that it takes gas, oil and tires to drive 400 miles every weekend, plus being expected to bring a gift. She refuses to realize this.

IRRITATED

DEAR IRRITATED: If young people spend as they go—they won't go far. Show your wife what a BUDGET looks like. And tell her how many 400-mile trips per year you can afford. Then let her pick the "occasions." When a husband lays down the law for valid reasons, his wife can only respect him for it.

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: This is regarding that woman whose husband was unfaithful and then came crawling back to his wife with promises to "make it up to her." She asked you if she should let her husband share her bedroom again, and you replied with one word, "Yes." Are you crazy or something? Why should the wife take him back? I'd let him sleep out in the doghouse like the dirty dog that he is.

PROUD

DEAR PROUD: And then what would you have? A husband who's provided with an excuse to behave like a dog because he's treated like one. Don't build fences where you can build bridges.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1♦	Pass	2♥	Pass
3♥	Pass	4NT	Pass
5♥	Pass	6♥

Opening lead — nine of diamonds.

I rather like this story told by the Dutch expert, Herman Filarski. He was playing in a tournament in Holland back in 1935 when this hand came up. His partner was a good player and their opponents were rather mediocre.

Filarski (North) opened with a diamond and the bidding then progressed to six hearts in the manner shown. The sequence was quite different from what it would be today, but the contract reached was certainly a good one.

West led the nine of diamonds and South had to decide how to play the hand. After a considerable huddle he decided not to finesse and went up with the ace. He reasoned that the nine might be a singleton, in which case, if he finessed, East would take the king and return a diamond to defeat the contract immediately.

He also felt that the finesse could not possibly win, since West was not the type of player who would lead from a king against a slam, and more so, since West had no way of knowing whether the ace would show up in dummy's hand or declarer's.

South's judgment was clearly vindicated when the ace caught the king. Declarer now led the jack of hearts and went up with the ace when East followed low. This play was entirely a matter of self-preservation, since South could not afford to finesse because of the danger that West might have the king, in which case a diamond return would defeat the contract.

Again South was rewarded when the ace caught the king, and the outcome was that declarer, after playing two tricks and catching two singleton kings, was able to claim the balance.

Filarski was of course pleased by his partner's performance — spearing two kings on two tricks in a slam contract — but the opponents viewed the feat with suspicion. On the next deal they held their cards much closer to the chest.

U.S. Whips Mexico In American Zone Of Davis Cup

Los Angeles (AP) —Dennis Ralston, a goat turned hero, clinched the American Zone Davis Cup tennis semifinal for the United States Sunday with a 6-1, 6-3, 7-5 victory over his college teammate and roommate, Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Chuck McKinley, the Wimbledon champion from San Antonio, Tex., then finished off a 4-1 American victory by defeating Antonio Palafox of Mexico, 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Ralston, suspended for his Davis Cup court conduct against Mexico in 1961 and the goat of the American defeat by Mexico last year, was brilliant throughout the 3 days of this match.

He won both his singles matches and teamed with McKinley to take the doubles. Osuna whipped McKinely in the opening match for Mexico's only victory.

The outcome reversed the result last year, when Mexico went on to post a losing challenge against Australia.

The next stop for the Americans on the long road to Australia is Denver, Sept. 13-15, for the American Zone final against lightly-regarded Venezuela.

The winner there meets European champion England, with Asian champion India the final opponent before the Australians.

The 21-year-old Ralston, who played beautiful tennis all 3 days, quickly established his mastery over Osuna, who is his roommate at the University of Southern California. Ralston and Osuna teamed for the Wimbledon doubles championship in 1960 and took the NCAA doubles title this year.

The Bakersfield, Calif., player — once known as the Peck's Bad Boy of amateur tennis — romped off to a 3-0 lead in the first set, breaking Osuna's serve in the second game.

After the Mexican, a notorious slow starter, salvaged his serve in the 4th game, Ralston ran out the set.

The second set was more of a struggle, going to 3-3, before Ralston cracked Osuna's serve, with the aid of a double fault from the Mexican. The American then held his own and broke Osuna again in the 9th game, on crisp volleys from the net.

The tennis was of a high order, as Osuna scrambled after every ball, but Ralston was hitting brilliant shots.

The 3rd set was a grim struggle between the two players, the best of friends off the court.

Ralston, returning service beautifully and hitting powerful ground strokes, got off to a 5-3 lead. But Osuna, his back to the wall, broke the American's service, passing him bailliantly as Ralston rushed the net.

Osuna held on for 5-5, and Ralston held his service, dispite one double fault, to go 6-5. Then he snapped Osuna's serve for the game and match.

Osuna leaped the net and threw his arms around his roommate. The whole thing took one hour and 17 minutes, in relatively cool 100-degree weather. It was 114 on the court Friday and 105 Saturday.

After the match, Ralston said, "I owe it all to Pancho Gonzalez. He has taught me more tennis in the last 10 days than I've ever learned in my life."

Ralston, who is 6-foot-2 and 170 pounds, appeared to have developed into a worthy running mate for McKinley.

He whipped Antonio Palafox in his opening singles match to pull the United States even at 1-1, after Osuna had risen to the heights in whipping McKinley in 5 sets in the opening match.

Last year against Mexico, Ralston had produced the incredible total of 6 consecutive double faults plus temperamental outbursts, in the Mexicans' 3-2 victory.

This time he only kicked a tennis ball into the stands once. He smiled most of the rest of the time.

Gonzalez said: "With the brilliant comeback of Ralston, I predict that the United States will regain domination of Davis Cup play. We've got youth, but they're playing ahead of their years.

"I think the Davis Cup is going to return to America for many years to come."

Yanks Open Big Margin

Chicago (AP) —The New York Yankees blasted the Chicago White Sox 8-2 and 8-4 in a doubleheader Sunday to run their American League lead to 10½ games, their biggest margin in almost two years.

A capacity crowd of 44,659 saw the Yankees romp to the double triumph, as Ralph Terry won his 14th game in the opener and Jim Bouton his 16th in the second game.

The lead was the longest for the Yankees, on the road to their 14th flag in 17 years and 3rd straight under manager Ralph Houk, since September of 1961. They went 11½ games in front 3 times that season.

Terry ran his record to 14-12 but needed help as the Sox got 12 hits, but left 13 men on base, 3 in the 5th, 7th and 8th innings.

Bouton made his record 16-6 in the nightcap, as the Yankees got 3 runs in the second inning. Elston Howard opened with a double — the first of his 4 hits — and scored on Joe Pepitone's single. Bobby Richardson drove in the other two runs. Howard added his 24th homer in the 6th.

The crowd boosted the White Sox season total to 1,028,335, putting the Chicago club over the million mark for 12 of the last 13 seasons.

Jury To Get Libel Case Today

. . . ATTORNEYS WILL PRESENT FINAL ARGUMENTS

Atlanta (UPI) — Attorneys are scheduled to complete final arguments today in former coach Wally Butts' $10 million libel suit.

Then a jury of 12 businessmen—none of them college football players—will decide on the charges that the former Georgia athletic director passed valuable game secrets to Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant before last year's Alabama-Georgia football game.

The charges were made in a Saturday Evening Post article which charged that Butts and Bryant conspired to rig outcome of the game which Alabama, a 17-point favorite, won 35-0.

Federal Judge Lewis R. Morgan already has ruled the article is libelous on its face so it is up to the magazine to prove the truth of its allegations.

Attorneys for both Butts and the Post agreed Friday that the case should hinge on the accuracy of the magazine's charges and that proof of the charges would constitute a defense of the libel.

In the opening summations Friday Post attorney Welborn Cody described Butts as a once great coach driven by business reverses and his love of the gay life.

He cited testimony during the two-week trial from University of Georgia President O. C. Aderhold and other school officials that Butts' character was "bad." The witnesses also testified that Butts would lie under oath.

Cody also pointed to testimony which linked Butts with Frank Scoby, a midwest gambler. Butts admitted during the trial he was friendly with Scoby but denied knowing Scoby was a gambler.

Cody, a University of Georgia graduate himslf, said Butts' conduct got "so bad that it became a statewide topic" and finally reached the point that "his friends would come into this court and confront him . . . and say that he's lost his character."

Attorneys for the stocky little football strategist who guided Georgia's team fortunes for 22 years argued that the Post had failed to prove its charges that Atlanta insurance man George Burnett overheard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant at which vital secrets were passed 9 days before last year's game.

They described Butts as "an ashamed, heartbroken shell of his former self."

"If Wally Butts' character is bad . . . It's because of the things printed in the Saturday Evening Post," said attorney William Lockerman.

Opposing attorneys will have one hour each for their final summations today and then Judge Morgan will instruct the jury.

Bryant, who testified in the Butts' trial, also has a libel suit pending against the Post.

Attorneys for the magazine last week petitioned the Federal District Court at Birmingham to move the trial out of the state on grounds that Bryant was a hero in Alabama and the magazine could not receive a fair hearing.

—U.S.-JAPAN MEET— Americans Break 2 Swim Records

Tokyo (AP) — A powerful American swimming team set two more world and American records Sunday at the 6th U.S.-Japan swimming and diving meet, making it 4 in two days.

The latest two record breaking performances were made on the second night of the 3-day meet at the 50-meter outdoor Meiji Pool before 5,000 spectators.

Carl Robie, 18-year-old University of Michigan swimmer, set a world record of 2:08.2 for the 200-meter butterfly event, bettering Australia's Kevin Berry's listed world record of 2:08.4. It also bettered his own American mark of 2:10.8.

The second world mark fell during a sudden downpour, in the 400-meter freestyle, the final event. The American team of Steve Clark, Richard McDonough, Gary Ilman and Edward Townsend cracked the distance world mark of 3:42.5 held by a French team. The U.S. relay team's time of 3:36.1 also improved the American mark of 3:42.9.

In the opening day Saturday, the Americans collected two world and two American records in the 200 and 1,500-meter freestyle events.

Don Schollander, California teen-ager from Santa Clara Swim Club, smashed the 200-meter freestyle world record of 2:00.3 held by Australia's Robert Windle with a 1:58.5. Roy Saari, of El Segundo, Calif., Swim Club, bettered Australia's Jon Konrad's world mark of 17.11.0 in the 1,500 with a 17:05.5.

The Americans won the diving and the 400-meter freestyle relay and finished one-two in the 400-meter freestyle, 200-meter butterfly and the 100 meter backstroke.

The only event the Japanese won was the 100-meter breaststroke by Kenji Ishikawa by a fast touch over America's Toy Craig of Verdugo Hills, Calif., S.C.

Grell, Kudrna Tabbed Tops In Shrine Bowl

Stan Grell of Lincoln Northeast was named the outstanding back and Roger Kudrna of Red Cloud was tabbed as the top lineman in the Nebraska Shrine Bowl football game.

The two players, both on the winning South squad, were selected by sportswriters and sportscasters covering the Saturday game.

Grell was chosen for his outstanding defensive work as a linebacker and the 6-1, 215-pounder received the nod over offensive backs Bill Dodd of Omaha Central, Kaye Carstens of Fairbury, Marlin Briscoe of Omaha South and Pete Tatman of North Platte. Tatman was the only North back receiving mention.

Kudrna led the South line that held the North to only 6 points. Others receiving votes for top lineman were Carel Stith of Lincoln Southeast, Ladd Lonnquist of Pius X, LeRoy Kobza of David City Aquinas, Ken Brunk of Cozad, Sandy Buda of Creighton Prep, Tom Smith of Hastings, and Mike O'Doherty of Omaha Cathedral.

LA Extends Lead To Six

New York (AP) — Don Drysdale fired a 3-hitter in the opener and rookie Dick Calmus turned in a brilliant relief job in the nightcap Sunday as the Los Angeles Dodgers swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 7-0 and 3-2 and stretched their National League lead to 6 full games.

The sweep enabled the Dodgers to add a full game to their lead over San Francisco and the Cardinals, who are tied for second and were rained out of a scheduled single game in St. Louis.

Calmus, a 19-year-old right-hander, worked 5 shutout innings in relief of Pete Richert, struck out two, walked only one and allowed only one hit in winning his second major league game.

He came on with a 3-2 lead at the start of the 5th and allowed only a harmless single to Ron Hunt with two out in the 8th. The only other Met base runner against the youngster was Duke Snider, who walked in the 7th but was wiped out in a double-play.

Richert was lifted for a pinch hitter in the Dodgers' decisive two-run burst in the 5th. Tommy Davis singled in both runs, his 3rd and 4th of the afternoon, following a walk, Maury Wills' single, a force play and Junior Gilliam's steal of second.

In the first game, Drysdale allowed just 3 singles, did not walk a man and did not permit a Met past first in winning his 16th against 13 losses. The big right-hander struck out 8.

He got all the backing he needed on Doug Camilli's two-run homer in the second off loser Al Jackson.

Tommy Davis doubled and scored on Lee Walls' single in the 6th and Drysdale drove in one run with a single and Davis singled in two more in the 3-run 7th that put it out of reach.

Cubs Sweep Twin Bill From Reds By 2-1, 4-0

Cincinnati (AP) —Paul Toth's 4-hit pitching performance followed a brilliant relief job by Lindy McDaniel in the opener as the Chicago Cubs swept their Sunday doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1 and 4-0.

Home runs by Billy Williams and Lou Brock backed up Toth's fine pitching in the second game.

In his brilliant two-inning relief stint in the first game, McDaniel didn't allow any of the 6 men he faced to get the ball out of the infield.

—BRAVES SURGING— Spahn Wins 342nd With 3-2 Decision

Milwaukee (AP) — Warren Spahn, 42-year-old left-hander of the Milwaukee Braves, hung up the 342nd victory of his career as the Braves continued their surge for the first division with a 3-2 decision over the Houston Colts.

The victory was the Braves' 6th in their last 7 games and completed a sweep of the 3 game series.

Spahn scattered 7 hits as he won his 15th game against 5 defeats and improved his chances of reaching the 20 mark for the 13th time.

His mates got only 5 hits off 38-year-old Skinny Brown in his 7 innings, but bunched them all in two innings for their 3 runs.

In the 4th, Lee Maye's double, a walk and singles by Eddie Mathews and Gene Oliver netted two runs. In the 7th, singles by Oliver and Roy McMillan and Dennis Menke's sacrifice gave the Braves what proved to be their victory margin.

The Colts, meanwhile, used their two extra base hits to score their runs. Ernie Fazlo hit a home run in the 5th and Jim Wynn tripled and scored on John Bateman's sacrifice fly in the 9th. Fazio's homer was his second of the year and both have been hit against the Braves.

U.S. Whips Mexico In American Zone Of Davis Cup

Los Angeles (AP) —Dennis Ralston, a goat turned hero, clinched the American Zone Davis Cup tennis semifinal for the United States Sunday with a 6-1, 6-3, 7-5 victory over his college teammate and roommate, Rafael Osuna of Mexico.

Chuck McKinley, the Wimbledon champion from San Antonio, Tex., then finished off a 4-1 American victory by defeating Antonio Palafox of Mexico, 6-4, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

Ralston, suspended for his Davis Cup court conduct against Mexico in 1961 and the goat of the American defeat by Mexico last year, was brilliant throughout the 3 days of this match.

He won both his singles matches and teamed with McKinley to take the doubles. Osuna whipped McKinely in the opening match for Mexico's only victory.

The outcome reversed the result last year, when Mexico went on to post a losing challenge against Australia.

The next stop for the Americans on the long road to Australia is Denver, Sept. 13-15, for the American Zone final against lightly-regarded Venezuela.

The winner there meets European champion England, with Asian champion India the final opponent before the Australians.

The 21-year-old Ralston, who played beautiful tennis all 3 days, quickly established his mastery over Osuna, who is his roommate at the University of Southern California. Ralston and Osuna teamed for the Wimbledon doubles championship in 1960 and took the NCAA doubles title this year.

The Bakersfield, Calif., player — once known as the Peck's Bad Boy of amateur tennis — romped off to a 3-0 lead in the first set, breaking Osuna's serve in the second game.

After the Mexican, a notorious slow starter, salvaged his serve in the 4th game, Ralston ran out the set.

The second set was more of a struggle, going to 3-3, before Ralston cracked Osuna's serve, with the aid of a double fault from the Mexican. The American then held his own and broke Osuna again in the 9th game, on crisp volleys from the net.

The tennis was of a high order, as Osuna scrambled after every ball, but Ralston was hitting brilliant shots.

The 3rd set was a grim struggle between the two players, the best of friends off the court.

Ralston, returning service beautifully and hitting powerful ground strokes, got off to a 5-3 lead. But Osuna, his back to the wall, broke the American's service, passing him bailliantly as Ralston rushed the net.

Osuna held on for 5-5, and Ralston held his service, dispite one double fault, to go 6-5. Then he snapped Osuna's serve for the game and match.

Osuna leaped the net and threw his arms around his roommate. The whole thing took one hour and 17 minutes, in relatively cool 100-degree weather. It was 114 on the court Friday and 105 Saturday.

After the match, Ralston said, "I owe it all to Pancho Gonzalez. He has taught me more tennis in the last 10 days than I've ever learned in my life."

Ralston, who is 6-foot-2 and 170 pounds, appeared to have developed into a worthy running mate for McKinley.

He whipped Antonio Palafox in his opening singles match to pull the United States even at 1-1, after Osuna had risen to the heights in whipping McKinley in 5 sets in the opening match.

Last year against Mexico, Ralston had produced the incredible total of 6 consecutive double faults plus temperamental outbursts, in the Mexicans' 3-2 victory.

This time he only kicked a tennis ball into the stands once. He smiled most of the rest of the time.

Gonzalez said: "With the brilliant comeback of Ralston, I predict that the United States will regain domination of Davis Cup play. We've got youth, but they're playing ahead of their years.

"I think the Davis Cup is going to return to America for many years to come."

Yanks Open Big Margin

Chicago (AP) — The New York Yankees blasted the Chicago White Sox 8-2 and 8-4 in a doubleheader Sunday to run their American League lead to 10½ games, their biggest margin in almost two years.

A capacity crowd of 44,659 saw the Yankees romp to the double triumph, as Ralph Terry won his 14th game in the opener and Jim Bouton his 16th in the second game.

The lead was the longest for the Yankees, on the road to their 14th flag in 17 years and 3rd straight under manager Ralph Houk, since September of 1961. They went 11½ games in front 3 times that season.

Terry ran his record to 14-12 but needed help as the Sox got 12 hits, but left 13 men on base, 3 in the 5th, 7th and 8th innings.

Bouton made his record 16-6 in the nightcap, as the Yankees got 3 runs in the second inning. Elston Howard opened with a double — the first of his 4 hits — and scored on Joe Pepitone's single. Bobby Richardson drove in the other two runs. Howard added his 24th homer in the 6th.

The crowd boosted the White Sox season total to 1,028,335, putting the Chicago club over the million mark for 12 of the last 13 seasons.

Jury To Get Libel Case Today

. . . ATTORNEYS WILL PRESENT FINAL ARGUMENTS

Atlanta (UPI) — Attorneys are scheduled to complete final arguments today in former coach Wally Butts' $10 million libel suit.

Then a jury of 12 businessmen—none of them college football players—will decide on the charges that the former Georgia athletic director passed valuable game secrets to Alabama coach Paul (Bear) Bryant before last year's Alabama-Georgia football game.

The charges were made in a Saturday Evening Post article which charged that Butts and Bryant conspired to rig outcome of the game which Alabama, a 17-point favorite, won 35-0.

Federal Judge Lewis R. Morgan already has ruled the article is libelous on its face so it is up to the magazine to prove the truth of its allegations.

Attorneys for both Butts and the Post agreed Friday that the case should hinge on the accuracy of the magazine's charges and that proof of the charges would constitute a defense of the libel.

In the opening summations Friday Post attorney Welborn Cody described Butts as a once great coach driven by business reverses and his love of the gay life.

He cited testimony during the two-week trial from University of Georgia President O. C. Aderhold and other school officials that Butts' character was "bad." The witnesses also testified that Butts would lie under oath.

Cody also pointed to testimony which linked Butts with Frank Scoby, a midwest gambler. Butts admitted during the trial he was friendly with Scoby but denied knowing Scoby was a gambler.

Cody, a University of Georgia graduate himslf, said Butts' conduct got "so bad that it became a statewide topic" and finally reached the point that "his friends would come into this court and confront him . . . and say that he's lost his character."

Attorneys for the stocky little football strategist who guided Georgia's team fortunes for 22 years argued that the Post had failed to prove its charges that Atlanta insurance man George Burnett overheard a telephone conversation between Butts and Bryant at which vital secrets were passed 9 days before last year's game.

They described Butts as "an ashamed, heartbroken shell of his former self."

"If Wally Butts' character is bad . . . It's because of the things printed in the Saturday Evening Post," said attorney William Lockerman.

Opposing attorneys will have one hour each for their final summations today and then Judge Morgan will instruct the jury.

Bryant, who testified in the Butts' trial, also has a libel suit pending against the Post.

Attorneys for the magazine last week petitioned the Federal District Court at Birmingham to move the trial out of the state on grounds that Bryant was a hero in Alabama and the magazine could not receive a fair hearing.

LA Extends Lead To Six

New York (AP) — Don Drysdale fired a 3-hitter in the opener and rookie Dick Calmus turned in a brilliant relief job in the nightcap Sunday as the Los Angeles Dodgers swept a doubleheader from the New York Mets 7-0 and 3-2 and stretched their National League lead to 6 full games.

The sweep enabled the Dodgers to add a full game to their lead over San Francisco and the Cardinals, who are tied for second and were rained out of a scheduled single game in St. Louis.

Calmus, a 19-year-old righthander, worked 5 shutout innings in relief of Pete Richert, struck out two, walked only one and allowed only one hit in winning his second major league game.

He came on with a 3-2 lead at the start of the 5th and allowed only a harmless single to Ron Hunt with two out in the 8th. The only other Met base runner against the youngster was Duke Snider, who walked in the 7th but was wiped out in a doubleplay.

Richert was lifted for a pinch hitter in the Dodgers' decisive two-run burst in the 5th. Tommy Davis singled in both runs, his 3rd and 4th of the afternoon, following a walk, Maury Wills' single, a force play and Junior Gilliam's steal of second.

In the first game, Drysdale allowed just 3 singles, did not walk a man and did not permit a Met past first in winning his 16th against 13 losses. The big right-hander struck out 8.

He got all the backing he needed on Doug Camilli's two-run homer in the second off loser Al Jackson.

Tommy Davis doubled and scored on Lee Walls' single in the 6th and Drysdale drove in one run with a single and Davis singled in two more in the 3-run 7th that put it out of reach.

Cincinnati (AP) —Paul Toth's 4-hit pitching performance followed a brilliant relief job by Lindy McDaniel in the opener as the Chicago Cubs swept their Sunday doubleheader from the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1 and 4-0.

Home runs by Billy Williams and Lou Brock backed up Toth's fine pitching in the second game.

In his brilliant two-inning relief stint in the first game, McDaniel didn't allow any of the 6 men he faced to get the ball out of the infield.

Grell, Kudrna Tabbed Tops In Shrine Bowl

Stan Grell of Lincoln Northeast was named the outstanding back and Roger Kudrna of Red Cloud was tabbed as the top lineman in the Nebraska Shrine Bowl football game.

The two players, both on the winning South squad, were selected by sportswriters and sportscasters covering the Saturday game.

Grell was chosen for his outstanding defensive work as a linebacker and the 6-1, 215-pounder received the nod over offensive backs Bill Dodd of Omaha Central, Kaye Carstens of Fairbury, Marlin Briscoe of Omaha South and Pete Tatman of North Platte. Tatman was the only North back receiving mention.

Kudrna led the South line that held the North to only 6 points. Others receiving votes for top lineman were Carel Stith of Lincoln Southeast, Ladd Lonnquist of Pius X, LeRoy Kobza of David City Aquinas, Ken Brunk of Cozad, Sandy Buda of Creighton Prep, Tom Smith of Hastings, and Mike O'Doherty of Omaha Cathedral.

Spahn Wins 342nd With 3-2 Decision

Milwaukee (AP) — Warren Spahn, 42-year-old left-hander of the Milwaukee Braves, hung up the 342nd victory of his career as the Braves continued their surge for the first division with a 3-2 decision over the Houston Colts.

The victory was the Braves' 6th in their last 7 games and completed a sweep of the 3 game series.

Spahn scattered 7 hits as he won his 15th game against 5 defeats and improved his chances of reaching the 20 mark for the 13th time.

His mates got only 5 hits off 38-year-old Skinny Brown in his 7 innings, but bunched them all in two innings for their 3 runs.

In the 4th, Lee Maye's double, a walk and singles by Eddie Mathews and Gene Oliver netted two runs. In the 7th, singles by Oliver and Roy McMillan and Dennis Menke's sacrifice gave the Braves what proved to be their victory margin.

The Colts, meanwhile, used their two extra base hits to score their runs. Ernie Fazio hit a home run in the 5th and Jim Wynn tripled and scored on John Bateman's sacrifice fly in the 9th. Fazio's homer was his second of the year and both have been hit against the Braves.

Casper Rallies For Golf Victory

Hartford, Conn. (AP) — Billy Casper, back in action after nursing a hand injury for 3 months, rallied Sunday to capture the $6,400 top money in the Insurance City Open Golf Tournament. He won with a 13-under-par 271.

The husky, 32-year-old Casper overcame a 5-stroke deficit in defeating 3rd-round leader George Bayer for one shot. Casper's blazing 65 in the final round of the 72-hole competition enabled him to nip Bayer on the breezy par 35-36—71 Wethersfield Country Club course.

A 6-foot birdie on the 17th by Casper was the turning point of the exciting windup. Casper, playing in the same threesome with Bayer, grabbed the decisive lead at that hole after tieing big George on the 15th.

Casper, former National Open champion, had been out of action since May 5 because of an inflamed tendon sheath on his left hand.

Before the injury, he won the Bing Crosby Open this year.

A crowd of more than 10,000 saw the action over the 6,515-yard layout.

The 5-foot-11, 210-pound Casper said he got a big thrill out of his successful comeback. "It settled doubts in my mind whether I would be able to play championship golf again," he said.

The 37-year-old Bayer appeared to be on the way to his first victory since March 1960. He reached the turn 14 strokes under par and 4 shots in front of Casper and Wes Ellis, who had led after the first and second rounds.

But Bayer, who scored a hole-in-one Saturday, found himself in trouble on the 12th. He lost a stroke to Casper who then caught fire.

Billy birdied the next two holes and caught Bayer on the 15th, scoring a par while Bayer took another bogey.

Just as it looked as if the tournament might be forced into its 4th straight playoff, Casper birdied the 17th and clung to the lead as both parred the final hole.

It was Casper's 21st victory since 1956 on the play-for-pay tour. He has now earned $272,229 in his career.

Bayer picked up a check for $3,600; Ellis finished 3rd and collected $2,500.

In his first appearance here Jack Nicklaus, Masters and PGA champion, tied for 5th and earned $1,675. National Open champion Julius Boros settled for $980 in a lower group.

Lincoln Shooter Has Perfect Mark

Vandalia, Ohio (AP)—Championship shooting starts Monday in the Grand American Trapshoot, and indications are the week-long 64th annual event will attract the greatest entry list in its history.

Amateur Trapshooting Association officials predict the big handicap scheduled next Friday—the sport's No. 1 showpiece — will exceed the 2,500 mark for the first time. Last year it drew 2,414, and the record of 2,429 was set in 1960.

The attendance record forecast was based on the entry for 3 days of preliminary firing, which wound up Sunday. Each of the 3 tune-up days exceeded the old entry marks. Sunday's 200 target, 16-yard "Dayton Homecoming" race attracted 530 shooters as compared with last year's record 427.

Five shooters broke all 200 targets Sunday. Those without a miss were C. E. Barnhart of Kansas City, Mo., co-captain of the All-America team, who was using a new gun for the first time; Ohmer Webb Sr. of Washington, D.C.; R. R. Dietmeyer of Lincoln, Neb.; Ralph Seymore of Springfield, Ohio, and Harry Smith of Franklin, Wis.

WBA Returns Lightweight Title To Ortiz

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—The World Boxing Association restored the lightweight championship to Carlos Ortiz Sunday, with the understanding that he will defend it against the winner of Monday night's fight between Kenny Lane and Paul Armstead.

The action was taken during a day-long session of the WBA executive committee attended by Ortiz and his legal advisors.

Dr. Charles P. Larson, WBA president from Tacoma, Wash., said Ortiz agreed to sign within two months to make the title defense before the end of the year.

The action means that the WBA will not recognize the Lane-Armstead fight at Saginaw, Mich., as a title affair. The state of Michigan had withdrawn from the WBA for its vacillation in the Ortiz case and announced that it would recognize the Lane-Armstead winner as champion.

The WBA deposed Ortiz for failure to defend against Lane, the No. 1 contender, by June 3, but in its August ratings continued to list Ortiz as champion, with Armstead and Lane No. 1 and 2 challengers, respectively.

Books Stop NU's Baffico

Jim Baffico, a 265-pound letterman center, is the only Nebraska gridder on the top Husker units who will be missing when coach Bob Devaney greets his squad for the opening of fall drills Sept. 1.

Baffico, who had been listed on the second unit at the completion of spring drills, failed to make up scholastic deficiencies in summer school. He will be ineligible for football.

The big Husker transfer from San Francisco was also ineligible for competition last spring. He has been working on the Lincoln Police Department during the summer while attending school.

Baffico plans to remain with the police force. He played 161 minutes last season.

The Huskers still have two lettermen centers in Ron Michka, a two-year letterman, and Lyle Sittler.

Game Overseers Plan Fish Move

The fish in Kimball Reservoir are due for a change of scene as Game Commission crews begin shifting them from the vanishing impoundment to other lakes in the panhandle.

Irrigation demands have lowered the Kimball Reservoir to a level at which fish could not survive. Continued use of the remaining water at the present rate will draw down the lake completely, according to the Game Commission.

"Residents of the panhandle will not lose any fish," said M. O. Steen, Game Commission director. "We will simply move the fish to other waters in the area. In all likelyhood, Lake Minatare near Scottsbluff will receive the heaviest transplanting."

The fish being rescued are mainly crappie, white bass, walleye, and black bass.

Sternberg Hopes To Vault Again

Seattle (UPI) — Over the public address system at the University of Washington Stadium came the quiet voice of Brian Sternberg.

"I know in my heart that I have God on my side and that with his help and the help of everyone, maye I will be back vaulting."

Sternberg was speaking from his hospital bed at University Hospital where he lies paralyzed from the neck down from a trampoline injury suffered July 2, a few weeks after he set the world pole vault record at 16 feet, 8 inches.

His remarks were addressed to the 13,500 fans who turned out for a football and track presentation featuring the Kansas City Chiefs and the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League, two of the world's top pole vaulters, John Pennel and John Uelses and 5 topflight mile runners.

Kansas City defeated Oakland, 35-21, in an exhibition game and Pennel, the current world record holder, vaulted 16 feet, 6 inches during the program staged as a benefit for Sternberg."

The other track feature, the Sternberg mile, was won by Jim Grelle of the Los Angeles Track Club in 4:04.4.

At halftime of the football game, Bob Mathias, former Olympic decathlon champion, joined Pennel, Nelses, Grelle and several of the other athletes in paying tribute to Sternberg, who at 20 had become one of the top athletes in University of Washington history.

An official of Greater Seattle, Inc., the sponsor of the sports program, read a letter President Kennedy sent to Sternberg which included a "Good Luck" in the President's handwriting.

Sternberg, who watched the whole show on closed circuit television, then made his remarks from the hospital.

"This (vaulting) is something I really want to do and am really striving to do. But if it isn't God's plan, I think He will make me strong enough to accept the fact that it isn't," he said.

Before going to the stadium, about 6 blocks away, Pennel and Uelses stopped by at the hospital to visit their injured rival.

"We talked about the 1964 and 1958 Olympic games, Pennel said, discussing the visit. "Brian said: 'I'd sure like to make it in '68, maybe in '64.' Brian said that everyday he feels a new twitch. He said, "Everyday it's something new. That's what keeps him going."

Sternberg, who is capable of only minor movement of his arms is described at the hospital as "basically unchanged" and in satisfactory condition.

WaterRegulations Being Considered

No one showed up at a public hearing in Lincoln on a variety of water sports regulations being considered by the State Game Commission.

Jack Hanna, water safety official, said the regulations will probably be adopted by the commission at its monthly meeting Monday.

Included is a regulation requiring water skiers to wear a life jacket or ski belt while skiing.

—Requiring fire extinguishers in outboard motorboats of closed construction, airboats and boats propelled by electric motors.

—Allowing racing boats to enter race competition without being registered or numbered.

—Requiring swimmers to keep clear of marinas and docks.

—Making boat operators responsible that children 12 and under wear life preservers aboard any vessel.

—Allowing children 14 and above to operate all motorboats without requiring adult supervision and making owner responsible.

—Allowing outboards of not more than 10 horsepower on Long Lake, Brown County; Rate and Shell Lakes, Cherry County, and Smith Lake, Sheridan County. Presently, only 6 horsepower outboards are allowed on these lakes.

—Opening Swan Lake, Holt County, to boats including motorboats with no limit on horsepower.

Networks Pay Plenty To Broadcast Grid Tilts

Washington (AP) — Television and radio networks will pay a whopping $13.9 million this season for rights to broadcast 184 professional and college football games, according to a survey by Broadcasting Magazine.

But they'll be doing plenty all right at the cash register, the magazine reports, because they already have about $85 million in sponsor fees lined up to foot the bills.

Casper Rallies For Golf Victory

Hartford, Conn. (AP) — Billy Casper, back in action after nursing a hand injury for 3 months, rallied Sunday to capture the $6,400 top money in the Insurance City Open Golf Tournament. He won with a 13-under-par 271.

The husky, 32-year-old Casper overcame a 5-stroke deficit in defeating 3rd-round leader George Bayer for one shot. Casper's blazing 65 in the final round of the 72-hole competition enabled him to nip Bayer on the breezy par 35-36—71 Wethersfield Country Club course.

A 6-foot birdie on the 17th by Casper was the turning point of the exciting windup. Casper, playing in the same threesome with Bayer, grabbed the decisive lead at that hole after tieing big George on the 15th.

Casper, former National Open champion, had been out of action since May 5 because of an inflamed tendon sheath on his left hand.

Before the injury, he won the Bing Crosby Open this year.

A crowd of more than 10,000 saw the action over the 6,515-yard layout.

The 5-foot-11, 210-pound Casper said he got a big thrill out of his successful comeback. "It settled doubts in my mind whether I would be able to play championship golf again," he said.

The 37-year-old Bayer appeared to be on the way to his first victory since March 1960. He reached the turn 14 strokes under par and 4 shots in front of Casper and Wes Ellis, who had led after the first and second rounds.

But Bayer, who scored a hole-in-one Saturday, found himself in trouble on the 12th. He lost a stroke to Casper who then caught fire.

Billy birdied the next two holes and caught Bayer on the 15th, scoring a par while Bayer took another bogey.

Just as it looked as if the tournament might be forced into its 4th straight playoff, Casper birdied the 17th and clung to the lead as both parred the final hole.

It was Casper's 21st victory since 1956 on the play-for-pay tour. He has now earned $272,229 in his career.

Bayer picked up a check for $3,600; Ellis finished 3rd and collected $2,500.

In his first appearance here Jack Nicklaus, Masters and PGA champion, tied for 5th and earned $1,675. National Open champion Julius Boros settled for $980 in a lower group.

Lincoln Shooter Has Perfect Mark

Vandalia, Ohio (AP)—Championship shooting starts Monday in the Grand American Trapshoot, and indications are the week-long 64th annual event will attract the greatest entry list in its history.

Amateur Trapshooting Association officials predict the big handicap scheduled next Friday—the sport's No. 1 showpiece — will exceed the 2,500 mark for the first time. Last year it drew 2,414, and the record of 2,429 was set in 1960.

The attendance record forecast was based on the entry for 3 days of preliminary firing, which wound up Sunday. Each of the 3 tune-up days exceeded the old entry marks. Sunday's 200 target, 16-yard "Dayton Homecoming" race attracted 530 shooters as compared with last year's record 427.

Five shooters broke all 200 targets Sunday. Those without a miss were C. E. Barnhart of Kansas City, Mo., co-captain of the All-America team, who was using a new gun for the first time; Ohmer Webb Sr. of Washington, D.C.; R. R. Dietmeyer of Lincoln, Neb.; Ralph Seymore of Springfield, Ohio, and Harry Smith of Franklin, Wis.

WBA Returns Lightweight Title To Ortiz

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP)—The World Boxing Association restored the lightweight championship to Carlos Ortiz Sunday, with the understanding that he will defend it against the winner of Monday night's fight between Kenny Lane and Paul Armstead.

The action was taken during a day-long session of the WBA executive committee attended by Ortiz and his legal advisors.

Dr. Charles P. Larson, WBA president from Tacoma, Wash., said Ortiz agreed to sign within two months to make the title defense before the end of the year.

The action means that the WBA will not recognize the Lane-Armstead fight at Saginaw, Mich., as a title affair. The state of Michigan had withdrawn from the WBA for its vacillation in the Ortiz case and announced that it would recognize the Lane-Armstead winner as champion.

The WBA deposed Ortiz for failure to defend against Lane, the No. 1 contender, by June 3, but in its August ratings continued to list Ortiz as champion, with Armstead and Lane No. 1 and 2 challengers, respectively.

Books Stop NU's Baffico

Jim Baffico, a 265-pound letterman center, is the only Nebraska gridder on the top Husker units who will be missing when coach Bob Devaney greets his squad for the opening of fall drills Sept. 1.

Baffico, who had been listed on the second unit at the completion of spring drills, failed to make up scholastic deficiencies in summer school. He will be ineligible for football.

The big Husker transfer from San Francisco was also ineligible for competition last spring. He has been working on the Lincoln Police Department during the summer while attending school.

Baffico plans to remain with the police force. He played 161 minutes last season.

The Huskers still have two lettermen centers in Ron Michka, a two-year letterman, and Lyle Sittler.

Game Overseers Plan Fish Move

The fish in Kimball Reservoir are due for a change of scene as Game Commission crews begin shifting them from the vanishing impoundment to other lakes in the panhandle.

Irrigation demands have lowered the Kimball Reservoir to a level at which fish could not survive. Continued use of the remaining water at the present rate will draw down the lake completely, according to the Game Commission.

"Residents of the panhandle will not lose any fish," said M. O. Steen, Game Commission director. "We will simply move the fish to other waters in the area. In all likelyhood, Lake Minatare near Scottsbluff will receive the heaviest transplanting."

The fish being rescued are mainly crappie, white bass, walleye, and black bass.

Sternberg Hopes To Vault Again

Seattle (UPI) — Over the public address system at the University of Washington Stadium came the quiet voice of Brian Sternberg.

"I know in my heart that I have God on my side and that with his help and the help of everyone, maye I will be back vaulting."

Sternberg was speaking from his hospital bed at University Hospital where he lies paralyzed from the neck down from a trampoline injury suffered July 2, a few weeks after he set the world pole vault record at 16 feet, 8 inches.

His remarks were addressed to the 13,500 fans who turned out for a football and track presentation featuring the Kansas City Chiefs and the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League, two of the world's top pole vaulters, John Pennel and John Uelses and 5 topflight mile runners.

Kansas City defeated Oakland, 35-21, in an exhibition game and Pennel, the current world record holder, vaulted 16 feet, 6 inches during the program staged as a benefit for Sternberg."

Pennel, of Northeast Louisiana State College, missed 3 times at 17 feet one inch as he attempted to break his pending world mark of 16 feet, 10¼ inches. Uelses, of La Salle, vaulted 16 feet, one inch.

The other track feature, the Sternberg mile, was won by Jim Grelle of the Los Angeles Track Club in 4:04.4.

At halftime of the football game, Bob Mathias, former Olympic decathlon champion, joined Pennel, Nelses, Grelle and several of the other athletes in paying tribute to Sternberg, who at 20 had become one of the top athletes in University of Washington history.

An official of Greater Seattle, Inc., the sponsor of the sports program, read a letter President Kennedy sent to Sternberg which included a "Good Luck" in the President's handwriting.

Sternberg, who watched the whole show on closed circuit television, then made his remarks from the hospital.

"This (vaulting) is something I really want to do and am really striving to do. But if it isn't God's plan, I think He will make me strong enough to accept the fact that it isn't," he said.

Before going to the stadium, about 6 blocks away, Pennel and Uelses stopped by at the hospital to visit their injured rival.

"We talked about the 1964 and 1958 Olympic games, Pennel said, discussing the visit. "Brian said: 'I'd sure like to make it in '68, maybe in '64.' Brian said that everyday he feels a new twitch. He said, "Everyday it's something new. That's what keeps him going."

Sternberg, who is capable of only minor movement of his arms is described at the hospital as "basically unchanged" and in satisfactory condition.

WaterRegulations Being Considered

No one showed up at a public hearing in Lincoln on a variety of water sports regulations being considered by the State Game Commission.

Jack Hanna, water safety official, said the regulations will probably be adopted by the commission at its monthly meeting Monday.

Included is a regulation requiring water skiers to wear a life jacket or ski belt while skiing.

Other proposed regulations:

—Requiring fire extinguishers in outboard motorboats of closed construction, airboats and boats propelled by electric motors.

—Allowing racing boats to enter race competition without being registered or numbered.

—Requiring swimmers to keep clear of marinas and docks.

—Making boat operators responsible that children 12 and under wear life preservers aboard any vessel.

—Allowing children 14 and above to operate all motorboats without requiring adult supervision and making owner responsible.

—Allowing outboards of not more than 10 horsepower on Long Lake, Brown County; Rate and Shell Lakes, Cherry County, and Smith Lake, Sheridan County. Presently, only 6 horsepower outboards are allowed on these lakes.

—Opening Swan Lake, Holt County, to boats including motorboats with no limit on horsepower.

Networks Pay Plenty To Broadcast Grid Tilts

Washington (AP) — Television and radio networks will pay a whopping $13.9 million this season for rights to broadcast 184 professional and college football games, according to a survey by Broadcasting Magazine.

But they'll be doing plenty all right at the cash register, the magazine reports, because they already have about $85 million in sponsor fees lined up to foot the bills.

At a later date, Mrs. Davidson and Cristler will play for the women's singles title in Kansas City.

Popple and Arden Stokstad of Cedar Falls, Iowa, and Miss Dukeminier and Gene Land of Muskogee, Okla., advanced to mixed doubles by default. Henry Graft-Terry Tippin of Kansas City and Mrs. Davidson and Len Proser of Kansas City defaulted.

Kennan Suggests Non-Aggression Pact With Reds May Be To U.S. Advantage

Washington (AP)—George F. Kennan suggested Sunday night that non-aggression pact between the Communist satellite countries and NATO nations might be to the advantage of the United States if it would lead to other agreements with Russia—and not hamper solution on the German problem.

Kennan, who recently resigned as ambassador to Yugoslavia after 29 years of diplomatic service, said however that a non-aggression agreement in itself doesn't mean much.

He said, "We've all promised this sort of thing to each other about 10 times over . . . but if it makes the Russians any happier and makes them more inclined to deal with us on other issues, I don't see why we shouldn't do it."

Germany Dangerous

Kennan said in the radio-television interview (NBC, Meet the Press) that a divided Germany is still potentially the most dangerous question in Europe.

The former ambassador to Moscow reiterated a statement made in 1957—when he was not in the State Department—that the United States should explore the possibility of pulling back U.S. and Russian troops from both sides of the iron curtain.

"Our present proposals on Germany would call for a unilateral Soviet withdrawal from East Germany," Kennan said. Such an abandonment would be nice, he said, but "I don't think it's realistic to asked for it. I think you have to pay a price for most of the things you get . . ."

Likes Test Ban

Kennan said he strongly approves of the limited nuclear test ban treaty negotiated by the United States, Britain and Russia and now before the Senate for ratification.

He was asked what the next step in East-West negotiations might be. He said that, personally speaking, "I would not reject too quickly the suggestion that General (Charles) de Gaulle (president of France) has made that we see what we can do about getting the long range means of delivery of atomic weapons under international control."

Kennan explained that it would be practically impossible, scientifically speaking, from preventing the manufacture of nuclear warheads. But control of the delivery systems might be feasible.

He ascribed the Soviet-Chinese split to both ideological and political factors. He said there is little chance of the split being healed "unless we conduct ourselves in such a way as to force them together."

Views Better

He called Russian views "in a number of very important respects more conductive to peace" than China's. "I wouldn't say that they are deserving of our support but we must hope that as between the two, they (the Russians) would prevail," he said.

Kennan also repeated a call for Senate action to approve the most favored nation tariff treatment for Yugoslavia. This was cut off when Congress passed the trade act last year, but the treatment of Yugoslavia and Poland is now before the Senate again.

Kennan said he doesn't favor U.S. aid for Yugoslavia but "we are very foolish to deny them normal commercial treatment." While they are Marxian Socialists, Kennan said, they still have maintained a decree of military and foreign policy independence from Moscow and should be encouraged to continue.

Reds Hint They Have Skybolt-Like Missile

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union celebrated Aviation Day Sunday with a strong hint that Russia has developed successfully an airborne missile similar to the Skybolt scrapped by President Kennedy.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda stressed the role of rocket-equipped supersonic aircraft which can inflict damage on an enemy "without entering the zone of its anti-aircraft defense."

"The combination of modern supersonic planes with powerful rocket armaments is the main feature that defines our air force," Pravda said.

Restrained

Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky stressed Russia's readiness for air combat in an order of the day, but his message and press articles were relatively restrained.

Heavy emphasis was placed on Soviet civil aviation developments and one official predicted that airliners will be flashing between world capitals at more than twice the speed of sound within the next few years.

Twenty artillery salutes were fired in the capital and others in the capitals of the Soviet republics and in the "hero cities," the Tass News Agency reported.

Western military observers reported no surprises in the Soviet press. Future Russian aircraft developments were confined to artists' conceptions of future planes.

1,800 MPH Seen

Nikolai Tsybin, deputy chief of the Soviet Civil Airfleet Administration, said that "speeds of the order of about 3,000 kilometers (1,800 miles) an hour will be achieved by passenger planes in the next few years."

He added in a Tass interview that Soviet aviation technicians will solve the difficulty of overcoming sound and heat barriers.

'Woo-West' Drive Slated By Kurdish

Paris (UPI) — Kurdish tribesmen, fighting for self rule in northern Iraq, plan to launch a woo-the-West campaign to dispel suspicions they are pro-communist, Kurdish sources said Sunday.

Recent Soviet criticism of the Baghdad regime which overthrew President Abdel Kassem has been interpreted by many diplomats as support for the Kurds. But the Kurds are trying to turn to the West, the sources said.

The Kurds claim American and British arms flowing into "neutralist" Baghdad are being used against them.

However, Kurds here dismiss reports that government bombings and infantry attacks have scored decisive victories against Kurdish villages in the rugged mountains of northern Iraq.

The Middle East news agency Mena reported in Cairo that 40 Kurds were killed and more than 100 wounded during the recent Iraqi army operations. Mena quoted an Iraqi Military communique as saying the operations purged Barzani Kurds from northern regions up to the Khabur river and more than 125 persons surrendered to local authorities.

The latest Iraqi offensive followed the refusal of the Iraqi Baath Party to fulfill its agreement to give the Kurdish province self-rule in exchange for support against Kassem.

$3 Million Made Available In State For Home Loans

An additional $3 million has been made available for direct home loans to Nebraska war veterans during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1963.

A. H. Duxbury, Veterans Administration regional office manager in Lincoln, announced Sunday that more than $3 million in direct home loans was loaned to Nebraska veterans in the first 6 months of 1963.

Direct loans to eligible war veterans may now be made in all counties of Nebraska except Douglas, Lancaster, and Sarpy.

Since the program began in 1950, the VA has made nearly 3,500 direct loans to Nebraska veterans, totaling over $30-million.

Duxbury pointed out that of this number only 5 had to be foreclosed, while 1,463 totaling $13,574,295 have either been paid in full or sold to private investors in Nebraska and nationwide.

Iron Horse Line At Children's Zoo 'Howling Success'

The Iron Horse Railroad Line at Lincoln's Children's Zoo is in service.

The first run Sunday afternoon set a track record as the miniature locomotive and the 3 coaches toured the trestle, tunnel, hold-up hollow, "chug-chug" hill, and all points around.

It was a "hollowing success" according to Jim Ager, Parks Superintendent, even with the afternoon rain. Ager said 500 fares were sold and the train was still running at 4 p.m.

The train will continue to run every day at the Children's Zoo, "weather and riders permitting," from 1 p.m. to sundown until school starts. After school convenes the train will run only on weekends.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Investors Have No Control Over Their Stocks' Behavior

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Rukeyser

An investment inquiry from a professional woman in New York City recalls the remark made at a lake front pier in Chicago when a new owner of a beautiful yacht bungle in docking the boat. The observer said: "Money doesn't care where it goes."

By the same token, money and the inerent risks of investment do not take into account the physical and emotional needs of the particular investor. Nevertheless, this letter from an inquiring reader stated: "I am a little leery of stocks because I do not know as much as I should to make the best choices. Because of my own rather uncertain state of health as I face increasing physical disability, both growth and safety factors are important. I should like to keep ahead of inflation without taking undue risks . . . I believe mutual funds would be best in my particular case.

"I recently made purchases of Washington Mutual Investors Fund totalling around $3,000. The load is 8½%. What is your opinion of this fund? Can I buy a 'no load' fund equally as good or better?"

A. Securities fluctuate in accordance with their own nature, and do not take cognizance of the peculiar needs of the individual investor. It would make sense for this reader to consider investment company shares. The "no load" funds operate the same as the funds with a load, and are for the most part operated as a sideline by investment counsel firms. As to the relative performance of individual funds, their record of past performance is chronicled in the manuals, such as Wiesenberger's "Investment Companies", which can be found in libraries of investment companies and banks.

Washington Mutual Investors Fund was organized in Washington, D.C. in 1952, and has shown growth over the pull. In specific years, it tended to move up and down with the market averages. Since you have already paid the "load", there would be no immediate financial advantage in switching to a "no load" fund. For future consideration, I am sending you by mail in your enclosed stamped self-addressed envelope a list of some of the "no load" funds. The fund which you hold restricts common stock investments to shares selected from the List of Legal Investments for Trust Funds in the District of Columbia.

Q. A reader in Manhasset, New York asks for a list of "no load" funds, and adds: "I would also like your advice on insurance companies. Because of their past performance I have been attracted to them. I would like your opinion as to the ones that offer the best potential at the present time. I am interested in appreciation rather than dividends at the present time."

A. Insurance stocks, especially of life companies, have through the years demonstrated growth propensities. They sell in good markets on a low yield basis, and are suitable only for those who value capital gains far more than current income. In view of the rapid rise in prices of such shares since last Fall, mutual funds on balance reduced their holdings of insurance stocks during the first half of 1963 in order to take profits, but some knowledgeable trustees are still putting such shares into accounts under their control.

There are two ways of buying into such situations. One is through the mutual funds, such as Life Insurance Investors and Life Insurance Stock Fund, Inc., which hold insurance shares, and the alternate route is through direct investment in stock life companies such as Connecticut General, Travellers and Lincoln Life and among the smaller companies, Eastern Life and Standard Security. Those buying directly should establish contact through their bank or broker with a house specializing in insurance stocks.

Q. A reader in Midland, Mich., with a substantial income but limited capital, with a wife and 6 young children, asks whether to begin buying securities or to start reducing his mortgage and other indebtedness amounting to $35,000.

A. Reducing indebtedness and building fresh assets are not mutually exclusive. With his heavy obligations to dependents, the reader would do well to start a pattern of systematic, periodic investment here and now. The habit of diverting part of income to capital account is an important discipline and should not be deferred.

The reader's annual income is close to his total indebtedness, which can be systematically amortized or curtailed. If he wants to be prudent, he can take out a special decreasing term life insurance policy to remain outstanding until his schedule of payments on the loan has been completed. Such a policy is available through the United States Life Insurance Company and other companies. Also, if he invests soundly, such securities too constitute a reserve fund available for the liquidation of debt and for emergencies.

The inquirer says "even my insurance counsellors agree that I am well covered." Nevertheless, additional temporary insurance to cover indebtedness is desirable in order to avoid contraction of an estate by premature death while the loan is outstanding. The father should also protect his position through adequate hospitalization and major medical coverage for himself and his dependents. He should also safeguard himself through sufficient fire and casualty coverage on his personal and office property. As a professional man, he should carry malpractice insurance.

As requested, I am sending along a list of "no load" funds.

Q. A Los Angeles reader writes: "I am a third year medical student and desire references to books on life insurance, income taxes, investments and law that I could use in planning my financial future. Please provide me with a list.

A. If you are going to be a doctor, you should know the importance of investing with professional advice. I don't recommend proceeding on a "do-it-yourself" basis. However, if you do selected reading, you will better understand what your counsellors are advising. Benjamin Graham of your city has written several excellent tomes on investment. I have myself written 9 books on investment and insurance. My current book—a Monarch paperback—is called "The Kennedy Recession". The last 3 chapters especially would hit your field of interest. My insurance volume is called "Life Insurance Property: the Hallmark of Personal Success" (published by Home Life Insurance Company). Other books which might prove helpful include: "The Sophisticated Investor" by Burton Crane and "Investing for a Successful Future" by Babson. As for law books, Rene Wormser, New York attorney, has written several books on wills and estate problems. As for taxes, the annual paperback editions of Lasser's "Your Income Tax" would be serviceable.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Kennan Suggests Non-Aggression Pact With Reds May Be To U.S. Advantage

Washington (AP)—George F. Kennan suggested Sunday night that non-aggression pact between the Communist satellite countries and NATO nations might be to the advantage of the United States if it would lead to other agreements with Russia—and not hamper solution on the German problem.

Kennan, who recently resigned as ambassador to Yugoslavia after 29 years of diplomatic service, said however that a non-aggression agreement in itself doesn't mean much.

He said, "We've all promised this sort of thing to each other about 10 times over . . . but if it makes the Russians any happier and makes them more inclined to deal with us on other issues, I don't see why we shouldn't do it."

Germany Dangerous

Kennan said in the radio-television interview (NBC, Meet the Press) that a divided Germany is still potentially the most dangerous question in Europe.

The former ambassador to Moscow reiterated a statement made in 1957—when he was not in the State Department—that the United States should explore the possibility of pulling back U.S. and Russian troops from both sides of the iron curtain.

"Our present proposals on Germany would call for a unilateral Soviet withdrawal from East Germany," Kennan said. Such an abandonment would be nice, he said, but "I don't think it's realistic to asked for it. I think you have to pay a price for most of the things you get . . ."

Likes Test Ban

Kennan said he strongly approves of the limited nuclear test ban treaty negotiated by the United States, Britain and Russia and now before the Senate for ratification.

He was asked what the next step in East-West negotiations might be. He said that, personally speaking, "I would not reject too quickly the suggestion that General (Charles) de Gaulle (president of France) has made that we see what we can do about getting the long range means of delivery of atomic weapons under international control."

Kennan explained that it would be practically impossible, scientifically speaking, from preventing the manufacture of nuclear warheads. But control of the delivery systems might be feasible.

He ascribed the Soviet-Chinese split to both ideological and political factors. He said there is little chance of the split being healed "unless we conduct ourselves in such a way as to force them together."

Views Better

He called Russian views "in a number of very important respects more conductive to peace" than China's. "I wouldn't say that they are deserving of our support but we must hope that as between the two, they (the Russians) would prevail," he said.

Kennan also repeated a call for Senate action to approve the most favored nation tariff treatment for Yugoslavia. This was cut off when Congress passed the trade act last year, but the treatment of Yugoslavia and Poland is now before the Senate again.

Kennan said he doesn't favor U.S. aid for Yugoslavia but "we are very foolish to deny them normal commercial treatment." While they are Marxian Socialists, Kennan said, they still have maintained a decree of military and foreign policy independence from Moscow and should be encouraged to continue.

Reds Hint They Have Skybolt-Like Missile

Moscow (UPI) — The Soviet Union celebrated Aviation Day Sunday with a strong hint that Russia has developed successfully an airborne missile similar to the Skybolt scrapped by President Kennedy.

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda stressed the role of rocket-equipped supersonic aircraft which can inflict damage on an enemy "without entering the zone of its anti-aircraft defense."

"The combination of modern supersonic planes with powerful rocket armaments is the main feature that defines our air force," Pravda said.

Restrained

Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky stressed Russia's readiness for air combat in an order of the day, but his message and press articles were relatively restrained.

Heavy emphasis was placed on Soviet civil aviation developments and one official predicted that airliners will be flashing between world capitals at more than twice the speed of sound within the next few years.

Twenty artillery salutes were fired in the capital and others in the capitals of the Soviet republics and in the "hero cities," the Tass News Agency reported.

Western military observers reported no surprises in the Soviet press. Future Russian aircraft developments were confined to artists' conceptions of future planes.

1,800 MPH Seen

Nikolai Tsybin, deputy chief of the Soviet Civil Airfleet Administration, said that "speeds of the order of about 3,000 kilometers (1,800 miles) an hour will be achieved by passenger planes in the next few years."

He added in a Tass interview that Soviet aviation technicians will solve the difficulty of overcoming sound and heat barriers.

'Woo-West' Drive Slated By Kurdish

Paris (UPI) — Kurdish tribesmen, fighting for self rule in northern Iraq, plan to launch a woo-the-West campaign to dispel suspicions they are pro-communist, Kurdish sources said Sunday.

Recent Soviet criticism of the Baghdad regime which overthrew President Abdel Kassem has been interpreted by many diplomats as support for the Kurds. But the Kurds are trying to turn to the West, the sources said.

The Kurds claim American and British arms flowing into "neutralist" Baghdad are being used against them.

However, Kurds here dismiss reports that government bombings and infantry attacks have scored decisive victories against Kurdish villages in the rugged mountains of northern Iraq.

The Middle East news agency Mena reported in Cairo that 40 Kurds were killed and more than 100 wounded during the recent Iraqi army operations. Mena quoted an Iraqi Military communique as saying the operations purged Barzani Kurds from northern regions up to the Khabur river and more than 125 persons surrendered to local authorities.

The latest Iraqi offensive followed the refusal of the Iraqi Baath Party to fulfill its agreement to give the Kurdish province self-rule in exchange for support against Kassem.

$3 Million Made Available In State For Home Loans

An additional $3 million has been made available for direct home loans to Nebraska war veterans during the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1963.

A. H. Duxbury, Veterans Administration regional office manager in Lincoln, announced Sunday that more than $3 million in direct home loans was loaned to Nebraska veterans in the first 6 months of 1963.

Direct loans to eligible war veterans may now be made in all counties of Nebraska except Douglas, Lancaster, and Sarpy.

Since the program began in 1950, the VA has made nearly 3,500 direct loans to Nebraska veterans, totaling over $30-million.

Duxbury pointed out that of this number only 5 had to be foreclosed, while 1,463 totaling $13,574,295 have either been paid in full or sold to private investors in Nebraska and nationwide.

Iron Horse Line At Children's Zoo 'Howling Success'

The Iron Horse Railroad Line at Lincoln's Children's Zoo is in service.

The first run Sunday afternoon set a track record as the miniature locomotive and the 3 coaches toured the trestle, tunnel, hold-up hollow, "chug-chug" hill, and all points around.

It was a "hollowing success" according to Jim Ager, Parks Superintendent, even with the afternoon rain. Ager said 500 fares were sold and the train was still running at 4 p.m.

The train will continue to run every day at the Children's Zoo, "weather and riders permitting," from 1 p.m. to sundown until school starts. After school convenes the train will run only on weekends.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Investors Have No Control Over Their Stocks' Behavior

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Rukeyser

By the same token, money and the inerent risks of investment do not take into account the physical and emotional needs of the particular investor. Nevertheless, this letter from an inquiring reader stated: "I am a little leery of stocks because I do not know as much as I should to make the best choices. Because of my own rather uncertain state of health as I face increasing physical disability, both growth and safety factors are important. I should like to keep ahead of inflation without taking undue risks . . . I believe mutual funds would be best in my particular case.

"I recently made purchases of Washington Mutual Investors Fund totalling around $3,000. The load is 8½%. What is your opinion of this fund? Can I buy a 'no load' fund equally as good or better?"

A. Securities fluctuate in accordance with their own nature, and do not take cognizance of the peculiar needs of the individual investor. It would make sense for this reader to consider investment company shares. The "no load" funds operate the same as the funds with a load, and are for the most part operated as a sideline by investment counsel firms. As to the relative performance of individual funds, their record of past performance is chronicled in the manuals, such as Wiesenberger's "Investment Companies", which can be found in libraries of investment companies and banks.

Washington Mutual Investors Fund was organized in Washington, D.C. in 1952, and has shown growth over the pull. In specific years, it tended to move up and down with the market averages. Since you have already paid the "load", there would be no immediate financial advantage in switching to a "no load" fund. For future consideration, I am sending you by mail in your enclosed stamped self-addressed envelope a list of some of the "no load" funds. The fund which you hold restricts common stock investments to shares selected from the List of Legal Investments for Trust Funds in the District of Columbia.

Q. A reader in Manhasset, New York asks for a list of "no load" funds, and adds: "I would also like your advice on insurance companies. Because of their past performance I have been attracted to them. I would like your opinion as to the ones that offer the best potential at the present time. I am interested in appreciation rather than dividends at the present time."

A. Insurance stocks, especially of life companies, have through the years demonstrated growth propensities. They sell in good markets on a low yield basis, and are suitable only for those who value capital gains far more than current income. In view of the rapid rise in prices of such shares since last Fall, mutual funds on balance reduced their holdings of insurance stocks during the first half of 1963 in order to take profits, but some knowledgeable trustees are still putting such shares into accounts under their control.

There are two ways of buying into such situations. One is through the mutual funds, such as Life Insurance Investors and Life Insurance Stock Fund, Inc., which hold insurance shares, and the alternate route is through direct investment in stock life companies such as Connecticut General, Travellers and Lincoln Life and among the smaller companies, Eastern Life and Standard Security. Those buying directly should establish contact through their bank or broker with a house specializing in insurance stocks.

Q. A reader in Midland, Mich., with a substantial income but limited capital, with a wife and 6 young children, asks whether to begin buying securities or to start reducing his mortgage and other indebtedness amounting to $35,000.

A. Reducing indebtedness and building fresh assets are not mutually exclusive. With his heavy obligations to dependents, the reader would do well to start a pattern of systematic, periodic investment here and now. The habit of diverting part of income to capital account is an important discipline and should not be deferred.

The reader's annual income is close to his total indebtedness, which can be systematically amortized or curtailed. If he wants to be prudent, he can take out a special decreasing term life insurance policy to remain outstanding until his schedule of payments on the loan has been completed. Such a policy is available through the United States Life Insurance Company and other companies. Also, if he invests soundly, such securities too constitute a reserve fund available for the liquidation of debt and for emergencies.

The inquirer says "even my insurance counsellors agree that I am well covered." Nevertheless, additional temporary insurance to cover indebtedness is desirable in order to avoid contraction of an estate by premature death while the loan is outstanding. The father should also protect his position through adequate hospitalization and major medical coverage for himself and his dependents. He should also safeguard himself through sufficient fire and casualty coverage on his personal and office property. As a professional man, he should carry malpractice insurance.

As requested, I am sending along a list of "no load" funds.

Q. A Los Angeles reader writes: "I am a third year medical student and desire references to books on life insurance, income taxes, investments and law that I could use in planning my financial future. Please provide me with a list.

A. If you are going to be a doctor, you should know the importance of investing with professional advice. I don't recommend proceeding on a "do-it-yourself" basis. However, if you do selected reading, you will better understand what your counsellors are advising. Benjamin Graham of your city has written several excellent tomes on investment. I have myself written 9 books on investment and insurance. My current book—a Monarch paperback—is called "The Kennedy Recession". The last 3 chapters especially would hit your field of interest. My insurance volume is called "Life Insurance Property: the Hallmark of Personal Success" (published by Home Life Insurance Company). Other books which might prove helpful include: "The Sophisticated Investor" by Burton Crane and "Investing for a Successful Future" by Babson. As for law books, Rene Wormser, New York attorney, has written several books on wills and estate problems. As for taxes, the annual paperback editions of Lasser's "Your Income Tax" would be serviceable.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries from readers concerning their financial problems. Letters with self-addressed, stamped envelopes should be sent in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column.)

Adrift With 149 On Board, Boat Towed In

Provincetown, Mass. (AP)—The excursion boat Yankee lost all power and went adrift off Race Point at the tip of Cape Cod Sunday. The Coast Guard took her in tow after she had drifted to about 3 quarters of a mile off the beach with 149 persons on board.

The Coast Guard towed the disabled Boston-to-Provincetown excursion into Provincetown.

Passengers lined the vessel's two decks, waving and shouting to the crowd assembled at the dock.

Generator Trouble

Capt. Herbert Patterson of Boston said the Yankee encountered generator trouble at 1:36 p.m. (EDT) and he lost steering and emergency power.

He said he anchored in 192 feet of water when he felt he was drifting too close to Race Point.

Personnel at the Race Point lifeboat station noticed the Yankee lying dead in the water shortly after 2 p.m.

Chief Petty Officer Louis Laney, in charge of the lifeboat station, said the converted World War II Navy LST "swung around helplessly" in the current twice before a line was put aboard by an 82-foot Coast Guard boat.

"As far as we could tell," he said, "she had no power."

He notified air and sea rescue headquarters at Boston and the coast guard had the vessel under tow in less than 40 minutes.

The Yankee was brought into a Provincetown pier by two fishing boats, the Stephen R and the Liberty Bell, used because of their maneuverability.

Banjo player Billy O'Donnell of Providence, R. I., an entertainer employed by the excursion boat company, strummed away on deck as the Yankee drifted about.

The ship's younger passengers joined him in a round of songs. Most of them regarded the incident as a lark.

Martha Gilson of Boston said: "It was wonderful—better than the regular trip."

Patterson said the passengers devoured all the food and consumed all the beverages the ship carried.

But the refreshments didn't seem to satisfy Ann Terruso of Billerica, who complained:

"We should get our money back."

Woman Slightly Hurt In 1-Car Crash Here

A one-car accident early Sunday morning sent a 47-year-old woman to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for minor injuries and released.

Police said Zeola Hammond, of 2613 So. 9th, told them she was southbound on 9th at 0 when a car made a left turn in front of her.

Mrs. Hammond told the officers she "pushed on the brake" but the harder she pushed, "the faster she went."

The car struck the curb on the southeast corner of 9th and 0.

Adrift With 149 On Board, Boat Towed In

Provincetown, Mass. (AP)—The excursion boat Yankee lost all power and went adrift off Race Point at the tip of Cape Cod Sunday. The Coast Guard took her in tow after she had drifted to about 3 quarters of a mile off the beach with 149 persons on board.

The Coast Guard towed the disabled Boston-to-Provincetown excursion into Provincetown.

Passengers lined the vessel's two decks, waving and shouting to the crowd assembled at the dock.

Generator Trouble

Capt. Herbert Patterson of Boston said the Yankee encountered generator trouble at 1:36 p.m. (EDT) and he lost steering and emergency power.

He said he anchored in 192 feet of water when he felt he was drifting too close to Race Point.

Personnel at the Race Point lifeboat station noticed the Yankee lying dead in the water shortly after 2 p.m.

Chief Petty Officer Louis Laney, in charge of the lifeboat station, said the converted World War II Navy LST "swung around helplessly" in the current twice before a line was put aboard by an 82-foot Coast Guard boat.

"As far as we could tell," he said, "she had no power."

He notified air and sea rescue headquarters at Boston and the coast guard had the vessel under tow in less than 40 minutes.

The Yankee was brought into a Provincetown pier by two fishing boats, the Stephen R and the Liberty Bell, used because of their maneuverability.

Banjo player Billy O'Donnell of Providence, R. I., an entertainer employed by the excursion boat company, strummed away on deck as the Yankee drifted about.

The ship's younger passengers joined him in a round of songs. Most of them regarded the incident as a lark.

Martha Gilson of Boston said: "It was wonderful—better than the regular trip."

Patterson said the passengers devoured all the food and consumed all the beverages the ship carried.

But the refreshments didn't seem to satisfy Ann Terruso of Billerica, who complained:

"We should get our money back."

Woman Slightly Hurt In 1-Car Crash Here

A one-car accident early Sunday morning sent a 47-year-old woman to St. Elizabeth Hospital where she was treated for minor injuries and released.

Police said Zeola Hammond, of 2613 So. 9th, told them she was southbound on 9th at 0 when a car made a left turn in front of her.

Mrs. Hammond told the officers she "pushed on the brake" but the harder she pushed, "the faster she went."

The car struck the curb on the southeast corner of 9th and 0.

Car Rolls Twice, Driver Is Listed In Good Condition

Bradford Waggoner, 19, of Johnson, was listed in good condition at Lincoln General Hospital Sunday after he fell asleep at the wheel of a car he was driving Sunday morning about 1½ miles east of the Platte River bridge on Interstate 80.

The State Safety Patrol said the car went out of control and rolled twice off of the highway.

Waggoner suffered cuts to the head, arms and legs.

Dixie Governors Unlikely To Support Gov. Wallace

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. (UPI) —Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace fired the first salvo Sunday in his battle to get southern governors on record against civil rights demonstrations and legislation.

The fiery little governor sharply criticized the civil rights march planned in Washington next week at a news conference on the opening day of the southern governors' conference here Sunday and added:

"I hope this conference takes action to disapprove this kind of mob violence."

But Wallace apparently will receive little support from his colleagues, most of them facing civil rights problems in their home states. They have traditionally avoided the touchy subject in their fun-and-talk sessions together.

Not on the Agenda

Civil rights is not on the agenda and probably would have remained the subject only of private discussions had Wallace not decided to submit resolutions on the subject.

Conference chairman Orval Faubus of Arkansas took a dim view of Wallace's plans, saying he takes a dim view of resolutions at any governors' conference.

"I can't see any purpose in it," he said, adding that any action taken here is "not going to be decisive in the affairs of the country."

In a session with newsmen Faubus also said he thought there is a very good chance" for a Republican to win the presidency in 1964 and indicated he might support Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., for the office.

Wallace plans to introduce 4 proposals condemning the Aug. 28 civil rights march, alleged communist participation in racial demonstrations, the Kennedy administration's civil rights proposals and the use of federal troops to enforce school desegregation.

He'll 'Awaken' People

If his proposals are not acted on by the governors, Wallace said he would then "take what action is needed to awaken the American people." He did not elaborate.

Fifteen governors from Dixie and border states were on hand or scheduled to arrive later Sunday night for the 29th annual meeting at the Greenbrier resort here.

Wallace Sunday criticized President Kennedy for endorsing the Washington protest march as being in "the American tradition" and said a person with this view is "either uninformed, misinformed or deliberately misleading the American people."

He said the march amounted to "mob violence" and has required alerting of "thousands of troops and policemen."

Car Goes Into Ditch; Mother, Daughter Hurt

A Lincoln mother and daughter were treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital and released Sunday afternoon after the car the mother was driving went out of control and into a ditch about 2½ miles north of the junction of Nebraska 2 and Prairie Home Road, on Prairie Home Road.

The State Safety Patrol identified the driver as Maybelle Weyers, 51, of 4520 Judson. She and her daughter, Gerelyn, 9, both suffered facial cuts and bruises.

Brandt Urges End To Protests Along Wall

Berlin (UPI) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt told people on both sides of the communist wall Sunday that additional protest demonstrations "will not help the situation" along the barbed wire and concrete barrier separating east and west.

Brandt made the statement in a radio broadcast after West Berlin and U.S. Military Police withdrew most of their riot squads from the Checkpoint Charlie area. That is the place where anti-communist riots were staged last Tuesday—the second anniversary of the anti-refugee wall.

Communist East Germany also withdrew 2,0000 factory workers trained in anti-riot tactics.

Extra guards were pressed into service Saturday, one year to the day after 18-year-old Peter Fechter was shot down by communist police and left to die at the wall. Wreaths were placed Saturday at the spot where Fechter died.

In urging a halt to demonstrations marking the anniversary of the wall, Brandt said "it is effective to keep quiet in certain circumtances."

He assured Berliners that plans by the United States to reduce its Berlin garrison by 600 men did not mean a lessening of U.S. determination to maintain the city's freedom.

Brandt said the plan to cut the garrison to 5,400 troops was a "technical reorganization" under which the remaining soldiers would have "increased firepower."

"The decisive question is the over-all responsibility which the United States, with Great Britain and France, is accepting here," he said. He added that this determination was "demonstrated as emphatically as possible to anyone in his 5 senses" by the visit of President Kennedy to West Berlin.

30-Day Sentence Handed Lincoln Man In Assault

James Akin, 23, of 3401 Lewis, was sentenced to county jail for 30 days Saturday after he pleaded guilty to a charge of assault and battery. Akin appealed the case and was released on $200 bond.

The charges arose from an incident early Saturday morning during which Akin beat a woman and reportedly shot at her with a .16 gauge shotgun. Police believe the shot fired was a blank cartridge.

The woman, Adella Laughlin, 25, also of 3401 Lewis, pleaded no contest to a charge of disturbing the peace and sentencing was deferred until Aug. 27.

She was not seriously injured in the incident.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids, stop itching, and relieve pain — without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by a doctor's observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all — this improvement was maintained in cases where a doctor's observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®) — the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H®. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug counters.

Car Goes Into Ditch; Mother, Daughter Hurt

A Lincoln mother and daughter were treated at Bryan Memorial Hospital and released Sunday afternoon after the car the mother was driving went out of control and into a ditch about 2½ miles north of the junction of Nebraska 2 and Prairie Home Road, on Prairie Home Road.

The State Safety Patrol identified the driver as Maybelle Weyers, 51, of 4520 Judson. She and her daughter, Gerelyn, 9, both suffered facial cuts and bruises.

Brandt Urges End To Protests Along Wall

Berlin (UPI) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt told people on both sides of the communist wall Sunday that additional protest demonstrations "will not help the situation" along the barbed wire and concrete barrier separating east and west.

Brandt made the statement in a radio broadcast after West Berlin and U.S. Military Police withdrew most of their riot squads from the Checkpoint Charlie area. That is the place where anti-communist riots were staged last Tuesday—the second anniversary of the anti-refugee wall.

Communist East Germany also withdrew 2,0000 factory workers trained in anti-riot tactics.

Extra guards were pressed into service Saturday, one year to the day after 18-year-old Peter Fechter was shot down by communist police and left to die at the wall. Wreaths were placed Saturday at the spot where Fechter died.

In urging a halt to demonstrations marking the anniversary of the wall, Brandt said "it is effective to keep quiet in certain circumstances."

He assured Berliners that plans by the United States to reduce its Berlin garrison by 600 men did not mean a lessening of U.S. determination to maintain the city's freedom.

Brandt said the plan to cut the garrison to 5,400 troops was a "technical reorganization" under which the remaining soldiers would have "increased firepower."

"The decisive question is the over-all responsibility which the United States, with Great Britain and France, is accepting here," he said. He added that this determination was "demonstrated as emphatically as possible to anyone in his 5 senses" by the visit of President Kennedy to West Berlin.
